Land-Sea Search For 2 on Lost Boat

5,000 Watch Navy Ships In Manoeuvres

Big Steam-Past Opens Navy Day

By MONTE ROBERTS

An estimated 5,000 Victorians and visitors lined the Dallas Road water front this morning for a look at Canada's Pacific Coast fleet in action, and most of them liked what they saw.

It was the largest-scale naval manoeuvre ever staged in Juan de Fuca Strait, with 11 of Her Majesty's Canadian ships taking part to open "Navy Day."

Only disappointment in the display of steaming manoeuvres was cancellation of the anti-aircraft "shoot," which was called off due to a heavy mist along the Port Angeles side of the strait.

Naval operations decided the use of live ammunition would be dangerous in case small vessels were hidden in the mist.

FISHBOATS INTRUDE

Toward the end of the manoeuvres, the Pacific "fleet" contained 14 instead of 11 ships. The navy craft were joined—inadvertently—by three small gillnetters returning from West Coast fishing grounds.

The tiny fishboats threaded through the impressive naval formation, and kept perfect formation themselves.

The steam-past, which most spectators believed would be brief, developed into a two-hour exhibition which held the attention of observers to the end.

The ships steamed out of Esquimalt Harbor in line-ahead formation, and appeared off Beacon Hill Park, well to seaward, at 9.30 a.m., heading east.

MAJESTIC CIRCLE

Led by the 8,000-ton, 555-foot flagship of the Pacific Command, HMCS Ontario, the fleet made a slow, majestic circle inshore and steamed past the park in the same formation.

Following Ontario were the raking-prowed Tribal class destroyers, Cayuga and Athabaskan, low-silhouetted and deadly. Behind the destroyers came the modernized Prestonian-class frigates, Stettler, Sussexvale and Jonquiere, distinguished by their straight up-and-down profile and enclosed superstructures.

Then came the reserve navy's training ships, the Bangor-type minesweepers Brockville and Digby, which have been modified for training and are now classed as coastal escorts.

The tiny, sturdy coastal minesweepers, James Bay and Fortune, followed. And last came one of the navy's smallest and hardest working ships, Porte de la Reine, the trawler-hulled gate vessel which is the Pacific Command's ship-of-all-trades.

Just short of Brotchie Ledge, the flagship swung hard a-port, and the 10 accompanying ships followed the manoeuvre to turn away from shore in line abreast.

CLOSE TO SHORE

The ships then turned close inshore for the official steam-past at 10.30 a.m.

Navy Day was continuing this afternoon with gates of HMCS Naden and HMC Dockyard open to the public.

Vancouver Paper Wants Island TV

Local Station Seen Endangering Channel Five Reception Here

By PHIL LEE

A "gentlemen's agreement" between the city's two radio stations that they would approach the CBC jointly for a television outlet blew up Tuesday, and today the fight for the island's only allocated channel, Channel 6, appeared to be developing into a three-way struggle.

It also appeared that a local station would seriously endanger reception from Seattle's Channel 5.

The "gentlemen's agreement" became a thing of the past, Tuesday afternoon, when CKDA president David M. Armstrong requested a television franchise from the CBC for his station.

Mr. Armstrong's explanatory telegram to Times publisher Stuart Keate Tuesday read:

"Please be advised that in the interest of television in Victoria CKDA feels that one station should own the franchise. Therefore, the owners and operators of the Capital Broadcasting System Limited will apply, at the next meeting of the CBC board of governors, for a television licence for Channel 6 which has been assigned to Victoria. . .

SURPRISE

William Guild, general manager of CJVI, who maintains that there had been a gentlemen's agreement between the two stations, commented today:

"The action came as a complete surprise to me. The first I knew of it was when Dave's (Mr. Armstrong) secretary phoned to say she had a wire to read to me."

Although steps had not yet been taken, Mr. Guild stated

COPPER PRICE AT 40, TOPS IN 83 YEARS

NEW YORK — The anticipated rise in the price of copper became a reality today when one leading producer raised the price to 40 cents a pound from 36, highest price since 1872.

Other producers were expected to follow.

Today's was the third rise this year.

Higher production costs and increased demand for the available supply were reasons for the boost. The U.S. price has been under pressure from Europe for some time, where copper has been selling for 47 cents a pound.

IRA Adopts War of Nerves Against Police

LONDON (AP) — Irish Nationalists waged a war of nerves today as British authorities combed the country for terrorists who raided an army depot last week.

Telephone calls warning of more raids on military camps throughout Britain plagued police. Each call brought out detectives and army agents but all the calls and rumors proved false.

The outlawed Irish Republican Army claimed credit, in a statement sent to Dublin newspapers Tuesday, for Saturday's brazen raid on the Arborfield army depot near Reading, Eng.

Scotland Yard struck back Tuesday and, in a swift assault on an IRA hideout in the heart of London, seized all the guns and ammunition stolen Saturday.

It was stated Tuesday night that guards were being doubled at military establishments in the Liverpool area, when a report circulated that the IRA was ready to strike again.

POLICE PROBE HEARINGS WILL RESUME TUESDAY

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Chairman R. H. Tupper of the royal commission investigating the police department announced today that the commission will resume hearings at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

The commission will resume hearings into charges of laxity and corruption in the police department after a two-week recess during which confidential investigations of further charges against the police were conducted.

Peron Party Quits Truce

Party Calls for Resumption Of 'Brilliant Crusade of '46'

(From UP and AP)

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina—Reinforced troops and artillery units guarded the residence of President Juan D. Peron today and the political truce which followed the June 16 revolt appeared over.

The end of seven weeks of limited political freedom for Peron's opponents apparently was signalled by the Peronista party. Peron called for the political truce a week after the abortive navy-led revolt two months ago.

The superior council of the Peronista party announced Tuesday that it had abandoned efforts to effect the truce and reaffirmed its determination to maintain Peron in power against all opponents.

The council said it would not give the opposition the "head of our president as a token of peace." It announced the party's determination to resume the "brilliant political crusade of 1946 when the people, tired of fraud, oppression and misery, determined forever to be governed by Argentines and carried the then Col. Peron to the presidency."

NEW FIGHTS

New disorders broke out today in front of the Roman Catholic metropolitan cathedral on Plaza de Mayo in central Buenos Aires. Police used fire hoses to break up a demonstration.

Several persons were reported arrested.

Witnesses said the disorders erupted as Catholics emerging from mass began shouting anti-government slogans and were met by an antagonistic group.

Fighting raged from the cathedral a block to Avenida Diagonal Norte, then down fashionable Florida street. Florida was covered with water from the fire hoses for three blocks.

Fisherman, Boy, 14, Are Sought

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dramatic relay of a distress signal launched a land and sea search at dawn today for a Bella Coola, B.C., fisherman and his 14-year-old helper whose fishboat sank in raging seas off Spider island Tuesday.

(Spider island lies off the mainland, 80 miles northeast of Cape Scott, at the tip of Vancouver Island.)

The double-barrelled search got underway as three other men were rescued by an RCAF patrol boat after being overdue eight hours in a small boat off Oyster bay on Vancouver Island.

Missing off Spider Island are Robert V. Nygaard, 34, owner of the fishboat Sultana and Orville Rindero, 14. Both are from Bella Coola.

ISLAND SCOURED

Land parties of fishermen went ashore on Spider Island at dawn to comb the rocky shores while a small flotilla of boats combed the raging waters in the area where the 32-foot craft was last seen.

Search machinery was put in operation Tuesday afternoon after fishboats relayed a message from the Sultana that she was sinking in heavy seas about two miles off the island.

First reports identified the boat as the Sulturna.

A chain of tiny fishboats and other craft picked up the message and passed it down the length of the coast. Last to relay it was the CPR ferry Princess of Nanaimo which radioed the report into RCAF search and rescue headquarters in Vancouver.

The ship-to-ship relay was necessary because of poor atmospheric conditions which cut down normal transmission ranges.

V.I. TRIO RESCUED

Meanwhile at Oyster Bay, 10 miles south of Campbell River, Gregory Allan, Glen T. Rene and a man identified only as Plaxton, were picked up by the Patrol Boat 848 off Mitlenatch Island in the Strait of Georgia.

The trio was drifing helplessly after the engine in their boat broke down.

RCAF officials said two tugboats, two government vessels and six trollers had been sent to join in the Sultana search off Spider Island.

Captain Cyril Andrews, head of the B.C. Towboat Owners' Association, said it had been definitely established that the Sultana sank.

"We received word from an unidentified source who saw the boat go down."

However, land was in sight at the location reported, and "there is every possibility that the pair got to land," Capt. Andrews said.

He added that search boats had picked up a lifebuoy and some debris.

New Ontario Gales Predicted From Dying Hurricane Diane

TORONTO—Gale-force winds were predicted for southern Ontario Friday night, even though hurricane Diane was blowing itself to pieces 60 miles inland from the North Carolina coast this afternoon.

Diane hit Wilmington, North Carolina, 600 miles from Toronto, at dawn today, eight days after her whirlwind birth in the tropics.

Diane's 74-mile-an-hour winds did little harm in North Carolina. Governor Luther Hodges said damage was "almost miraculously light."

In Ontario, where two were killed by the dying gasps of hurricane Connie last week-end, weather forecasters issued preliminary warning of gales expected Friday.

But they emphasized that Diane might not copycat her predecessor. Hurricane Connie also lost strength in North Carolina but revived enough to whiplash Ontario two days later before disappearing into the Arctic.

1956 UN EXPENSES TO HIT 10-YEAR LOW

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold estimated Tuesday night the UN's expenses in 1956 would be $46,278,000. This would be the lowest in six years. He figured the 60-member nations would have to contribute $39,404,400 of this, with the United States giving a third. He counted on getting the remaining $6,873,600 from stamp sales, guided headquarters tours and other paying operations.

Stan Leonard Fires 66 in Open Tourney

WESTON, Ont. (CP) — Little Jerry Barber shot a hole in one but the real scorcher was provided by Charles Sifford of Philadelphia, Pa., who shot a nine-under-par 63 to take the lead with half the field reported in the opening round of the Canadian Open golf championship today.

Sifford put together nines of 31-32 over the 6,428-yard par-72 course. His card included nine birdies.

Second place was taken by Vancouver's Stan Leonard with a five-under-par 66. The west-coast pro, who gave up his Marine Drive job as pro to hit the tournament trail this year, put together a pair of 33s.

The five-foot-four barber from Los Angeles, Calif., was tied for third place at 67 with two others — Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Bob Dean, a dark-horse entry from Cornwall, Ont.

The course was taking a clobbering, as the pros predicted after practice rounds on Tuesday.

EGGS-ACTLY 64 DAYS

Proud Papa Penguin Poses Aching Days for His Toes

VANCOUVER (CP)—For two weeks a proud king penguin at the Stanley Park zoo has performed a neat balancing act that may turn into an endurance test.

Zoo keeper Alan Beet says the penguin, believed to be a male, has delicately balanced a four-inch egg on his feet without any help from the female of the species.

If all goes well for another seven weeks the penguin egg will be the first ever laid in a Canadian zoo and hatched successfully.

"Normally the female relieves the male at intervals during the egg's incubation period," Mr. Best said today. "But so far the mate has shown no willingness to take over."

Penguins do not make nests. The egg rides on top of the feet of the brooding penguin, covered by its feathers.

The egg, which has a 64-day incubation period, is not due to hatch until Oct. 5 to 7. And Mr. Best said it was possible the male would retain the egg, almost round in shape, for the entire period.

There are seven king penguins in Stanley Park valued at $500 each.

INDEPENDENT RESEARCH, 'UNIQUE' RESULT

U.S., Soviet Atomic Scientists Reach Same Point of Knowledge

GENEVA (Reuters) — The United States, Britain and Russia today disclosed secret information on the measurements of neutrons essential to the design of atomic power reactors.

Details of measurements of the neutrons of uranium 233 and 235 and plutonium, the major materials of nuclear fission, were placed on the table by physicists of the three countries at a session of the Atoms-for-Peace conference.

Until now these measurements were secret.

Dr. Ronald Hughes of Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, N.Y., said scientists discovered the three countries had reached virtually the same point of knowledge after 10 years' independent work on neutron measurement.

"The situation this morning was certainly unusual, if not unique in science," he told a press conference. "We were comparing results of independent work over the last 10 years and found they compared extremely well."

Hughes showed reporters a chart on which were curves representing the work of scientists at the Harwell research centre in England and by Soviet scientists.

The American physicist pointed out that the two curves became "completely identical" at the top. They "are so close together that you would think the measurements were carried out in the same laboratory," he said.

Hughes said the physicists know from today's exchange that fundamental nuclear information has been available to all the big powers. Now the smaller nations, too, have access to it.

He said the atomic Big Three agreement on neutronic measurement gave scientists great reassurance about reactor designs and would save an immense amount of time for physicists the world over.

ON NEW HOUSING

Contractor's War Looming?

Demand for qualified carpenters in B.C. may lead to a "contractor's wage war," a top provincial carpenter's union officer said today.

High level of employment in the carpentry trade this summer said E. T Staley, secretary of the Provincial Council of Carpenters (AFL-TLC), could have contractors offering better-than-union-scale wages in order to obtain badly needed workers.

Profit margins on existing contracts are felt by union officials to be too slim for a widespread boom in "bonuses" paid to individual carpenter, but it is pointed out that bonuses are now being paid in some instances.

A wage war could result in a "squeeze" between contractors and housing authorities which watch over-all building costs and let contracts

A weakining "through the ceiling" would mean. higher costs to home purchasers.

Mr. Staley said he expects employment in the construction industry to remain good for some time, especially on Vancouver Island.

"We'll have a very good employment situation for the next couple of years," he said.

He mentioned large projects now underway at Port Alberni, Crofton and Campbell River, where new or expanded pulp and paper mills are being built. He said there would soon be another employment opportunity on Upper Campbell Lake, where B.C. Power Commission will erect a hydro-electric dam.

Twenty carpenters could be used immediately in Powell River, where the Powell River Co. is engaged in mill expansion, the secretary reported.

Elsewhere in the province, the picture is not quite so good, there being no other large construction projects at hand, he said.

They represent 34,000 B.C. members of International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) which opens its annual parley in Milwaukee on Monday.

The B.C. delegates, who represent the IWA's biggest single district, will speak for more than one-third of the union's 100,000 rank-and-file members, a spokesman said here Tuesday.

India Offers Compensation For Riot Damage

Nehru Apologizes To Portuguese

NEW DELHI, India, (UP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru apologized today for an Indian mob attacks against Portuguese consulates Tuesday and offered to pay compensation for the damages.

Mobs, protesting against the action of Portuguese troops in repelling a "peaceful invasion" of Goa by Indian Nationalists, rioted by the tens of thousands and attacked the Portuguese consulate in Calcutta, and Portuguese holdings in Bombay.

Nehru told parliament today India expressed its "deep regret and apology" for the attacks and said the behavior of the uncontrollable crowds should not have been directed toward the Portuguese foreign missions.

"We must respect the foreign missions," he said. "They should be protected. If we expect respect we must also behave likewise."

The mobs were so serious in Bombay that police fired rifles into the crowds and hurled tear gas bombs. Official reports said 62 persons were injured, including 18 policemen. Two of the injured were wounded by rifle fire.

Bombay's rioting was reported the worst, but a mob in Calcutta invaded the Portuguese consulate, smashed and burned equipment, ransacked the building and hoisted the Indian flag over the building.

In New Delhi a crowd of more than 150,000 gathered Tuesday night to demand action against Portugal.

Free Ex-Rays Laboratory Tests For Needy Premier Frost's Plan

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says Premier Frost of Ontario is expected to urge the federal government to provide free X-rays and laboratory tests for all Canadians unable to pay for them.

It adds that the premier is expected to embody this idea in a formal proposal he will submit to Prime Minister St. Laurent. The prime minister has invited all provinces to submit suggestions for a national health insurance scheme.

"Premier Frost believes the free tests would not create too difficult a financial burden on the participating governments and yet would greatly reduce serious illness by making early diagnosis possible," the paper says.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Health Minister Eric Martin predicted Tuesday a national health insurance scheme eventually will be adopted by the federal government.

The British Columbia cabinet minister was addressing the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association convention being held here this week. He said Canadian pharmacists will play an important role in such a scheme.

The B.C. Pharmaceutical Association has favored a national health plan but "only if the plan will not include free medication."

30-Mile Speed Limit Asked for New Road

Reeve Wants Government to Lower 50-Mile Limit on Trans-Canada

Reeve Joseph Casey told a joint meeting of Strawberry Vale and View Royal parents Tuesday he will ask the provincial government to establish a 30-mile-an-hour speed limit where the new portion of the Trans-Canada Highway goes through Saanich.

A 50-mile-an-hour limit is now in effect.

The meeting was called to discuss improvements to the busy Helmcken road - Island highway intersection which residents in the district consider dangerous to pedestrians and school children.

Mrs. Martha Ellen was killed when she was struck by a car at the intersection two weeks ago.

TOO FAST?

Reeve Casey said a 50-miles-an-hour speed limit was too fast where there are schools and he felt something should be done to reduce the speed limit.

The Helmcken road outlet, as well as the Burnside road intersection, will receive heavy use by children going to school next month.

The meeting decided to appoint a committee to meet Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi to discuss the highway problem. The committee includes Alex Gardiner, president of the View Royal PTA, Reeve Casey, Donald McLean and Ed Seedhouse.

NOT ANSWER

John D. Tisdalle, Saanich MLA, who was present at the meeting, said he did not think a reduction of the speed limit was the answer.

Mr. Tisdalle said stop lights which would operate at busy periods as well as lighted crosswalks, would be a good solution.

"You are not going to find motorists driving on a highway like that at 30 even if it's reduced," he stated. "It is necessary to keep in mind that this is the island highway. The public want a fast way out of town."

NO DECISION

While the meeting made no decision as to what should be done to improve the highway outlet, many of the parents were in favor of reducing the 50-mile-an-hour speed limit.

The residents also asked for clearer and larger pedestrian crossing signs at all intersections along the highway.

CLOUDS HAMPER LONG SEARCH FOR LOST B.C. PLANE

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Air force authorities said today hope was slowly dwindling for the safety of five men on a missing Pacific Western Airlines plane believed to have crashed somewhere along the upper British Columbia coast.

The aircraft, a Mallard amphibian, disappeared Aug. 3 on a flight from Kemano to Kitimat.

"However, there is still some hope that they are alive," a spokesman said. He said the plane carried emergency rations for "some weeks. "Five air force and two navy planes are standing by in the Terrace area and the search will continue as soon as today's low cloud ceiling lifts."

Soviet Scientists Want More 'Peace-Atom' Talks

But Decision On Ike Plan Up to Kremlin

GENEVA (UP) — Scientists on both sides of the Iron Curtain welcomed today a suggestion by President Eisenhower that another international Atoms for Peace conference be held within two or three years.

The Soviet delegation headed by D. V. Skobeltsyn was one of the first to express its favorable reaction. A spokesman said the Soviets welcome the idea but could not speak at length without fresh instructions from Moscow, expected by end of the week.

Heads of the delegations from Britain, France, Italy and India said they were gratified at the president's suggestions. A number of scientists recommended the next meeting be held in the United States but there were bids from both France and Italy.

The president's proposal was put forward informally Tuesday by Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the U.S. atomic energy commission, in a talk before the American Club of Geneva. He noted that it was President Eisenhower who suggested this meeting and hoped another would follow.

A formal proposal for a new atoms-for-peace conference would have to be made through the United Nations, and it was understood the proposal would come up when secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold reports on the current meeting.

The Geneva conference itself could not call a future meeting since it lacks such authority.

DUCK EGGS 'POPPING' WITH RADIOACTIVITY

GENEVA (UP)—Eggs laid by ducks in the vicinity of the Hanford, Wash., atomic energy plant are fairly popping with radio-activity, the atoms-for-peace conference was told today. Two American scientists said the yolks of duck eggs in the Hanford area contain about 200 times as much radioactive phosphorus as is found in the bodies of adult river ducks and geese.

The scientists said ducks in the Hanford area absorb radioactive phosphorus which the big plutonium plant releases as waste into the Columbia River.

Chalk River Controls Radiation Exposure

Canadian Scientist Tells of Near-Perfect Record Enjoyed at Big Atom Plant

GENEVA (BUP) Experience of Canadian scientists has proved that exposure to radiation can be controlled within acceptable limits even under emergency conditions, a Canadian told the international conference on the peaceful uses of atomic energy today.

Dr. A. J. Cipriani, director of the biology and radiation hazards control division of Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd., at Chalk River, Ont., said constant surveillance and strict control have been mainly possible because of a near-perfect safety record at the plant.

Decontamination, dismantling and reconstruction of the NRX natural uranium heavy-water reactor was carried out at Chalk River after the reactor broke down Dec. 12, 1952.

Despite work in high radiation fields during the 14-month restoration job, Cipriani said, only one person received more than the recommended limit of exposure. He received only slightly more than the allowable exposure.

During 10 years' operation at Chalk River there have been no significant radiation accidents, Cipriani said.

SOVIET ATOM-MEN ON 6-HOUR DAY

GENEVA (CP) — Many atomic workers in the Soviet Union are getting a six-hour day and a month's vacation with pay — unprecedented in that country — as part of a plan to guard their health from radiation, a Russian scientist told the atoms-for-peace conference today.

Rivette to Swim 4 a.m. Thursday

Deaf-mute Douglas Rivette, 44-year-old linotype operator, will make his first assault on Juan de Fuca Strait at 4 a.m. Thursday, if weather conditions permit, navigator Alf Webb said today.

Rivette, whose recovery from polio was aided by swimming as a child, has been training here for about a month and was out for a practice swim Sunday in heavy seas.

Bank Bandits Get $2,000 In Seattle Raid

SEATTLE (AP) — Two men held up the Times Square branch of the Seattle Trust & Savings Bank in downtown Seattle Tuesday afternoon and escaped with about $2,000.

One robber, wearing a yellow shirt, handed a postcard to a teller. The card said he was armed. There were only three or four customers in the bank but no one observed a gun. Another robber stood nearby beside a pillar.

ELECTRIFIED PIPE KILLS TWO SWIMMERS

CHAUMONT, N.Y. (AP)— A father and son were killed by electric shock Tuesday when they touched a charged water pipe while swimming in Lake Ontario.

Police said John E. Friederbach, 38, died in an attempt to pull his son, Jay, 10, from the pipe, which was connected to a water pump in a neighboring cottage. Authorities said a short circuit in the pump apparently charged it.

The Waiting Game

DR. ADENAUER IS PREPARED to negotiate with Russia (provided Russia releases German war prisoners) but his visit to Moscow is not likely to produce any immediate results. Russian policy, as recently clarified at Geneva, does not seek immediate results. It is, on the contrary, a policy of postponement. And it is based not so much on the dialectics of Marx as on the long history of Europe.

Over and over again Germany and Russia have come together by agreement after long and apparently insoluble quarrels.

The policy of Bismarck, architect of the German nation, was to maintain good relations with Russia on the east while he lunged into Austria on the south and Denmark and France on the west. When his successor, Kaiser Wilhelm, abandoned this policy and struck at Russia, Germany was overwhelmed by a two-front war.

Germany and Russia were reconciled under the Rapallo Treaty, and in 1939 Hitler cemented this bargain, for the time being, by his cynical treaty with Stalin. When this pledge was broken and Hitler repeated the Kaiser's mistake by attacking Russia in 1941 Germany was defeated for the second time and dismembered.

Through all this record of confusion, betrayal and tragedy runs a thread of logic which the present government of Russia seems to have recognized.

Its new policy apparently is based on the assumption that historic forces eventually will drive Russia and Germany into agreement, as before. Stalin's policy of holding eastern Germany by force and hoping for West Germany's early surrender to threat and blandishment is virtually repealed in favor of indefinite postponement while the historic forces are given a chance to work. In the end, it is evidently assumed in Moscow, West Germany will make a deal with Russia whether the Western allies like it or not.

For this reason Russia, despite all the Kremlin's new manners, absolutely refused to make any deal at Geneva. It would agree to Germany's reunification only if the United States detached itself entirely from NATO and, only, indeed, if NATO was liquidated.

Mr. Bulganin knew, of course, that those terms would be rejected and expected no agreement at Geneva. He could wait until, some time hence, West Germany saw the advantage of joining the Russian hegemony. Meanwhile Russia would not play its trump card prematurely.

That card has long been obvious in the Kremlin's sleeve—an offer to restore Germany's lost eastern territories, now in Polish hands, if a reunited Germany cuts its ties with the West.

Probably the trump will not be played so long as Dr. Adenauer is in office because this wise and powerful man is unlikely ever to betray his Western friends under any conditions. When he is gone, when Germany has had long enough to forget the horrors of the Russian invasion and the brutalities of the Stalin policy, it will be time for another Rapallo.

Until then Moscow's immediate objective seems to be the establishment of something like normal diplomatic relations with Bonn. Through an embassy of skilled observers in West Germany the Russians could judge the development of Germany's opinion, could identify the German leaders favorable to a new deal and doubtless influence them in the desired direction.

All this is likely to take time and time is what the patient Russians have most of. In a struggle of diplomacy so prolonged the democracies also must learn patience and must continue to show the German people that their best hopes lie not in the Communist East, but in the free West.

Are Our Children Becoming Weaker?

FIGURES WHICH APPEARED some months ago on the comparative physical fitness of European and American children caused a great deal of questioning in the United States. They showed that on the basis of six simple exercises—called the Kraus-Weber tests for muscular fitness—European children were in far better physical condition than American.

The assumption is that United States and Canadian youngsters probably are in the same category, since the causes of muscular weakness in the former also apply largely to the latter. Race and economic conditions appeared to have little to do with the findings. The chief factor seemed to be national customs. And the American way of life—with restriction of activity due to playpens, school buses, television, spectator sports and similar adjuncts to living—was the major cause.

In a word, the American children were found far below the European in muscular toughness, although health itself was not involved.

The results of the study were thought sufficiently serious to be placed before President Eisenhower, who quickly recognized that something should be done to counteract the trend. The record of male fitness during wartime call-up was well known to him and to others. As high as fifty per cent of recruits were turned down for physical defects. And strangely enough this included many well-known athletes.

Sports Illustrated, in its current edition, draws attention to the problem, and quotes the figures of the investigators. These purport to show that 57.9 per cent of the U.S. children examined failed in one or more of the six Kraus-Weber tests for strength of abdominal and trunk muscles and flexibility. Only 8.7 per cent of European children failed. In the United States, 44.3 per cent of the children failed in the touching-toes test for flexibility. In Europe only 7.8 failed. Other comparisons were on the same scale.

The magazine suggests that in addition to the "plush living" of this continent, a contributory factor may be the over-carefulness of many parents.

Johnny is not allowed to climb trees—a natural and strengthening exercise—because he might hurt himself. Softball and baseball, which are fun but not particularly good in developing all-round muscular condition, are encouraged. But the lad goes to the school grounds in a bus or his parents' car; he spends long hours just sitting, watching movies or TV when he could be hiking or engaged in rough and tumble. He is strong on athletic hero worship, but short on participation.

Whatever the reason, the figures present a serious challenge to this continent. While medicine has lengthened the life span and conquered many killing or crippling diseases, it cannot provide a pill for muscular development.

The Kraus-Weber figures could be the first intimation that man is losing the struggle with the machine age—that mechanized horse-power is taking the place of man-power and boy-power. Can technical advance be made only at the expense of human physique?

Let It Rain, Let It Blow

AMONG THE VARIOUS INstances of progress in science the prediction that within ten years "scientific intervention" in the weather may become practical is likely to be received with mixed feelings.

At first thought Mark Twain's famous remark, that everybody complains about the weather but nobody does anything about it, appears to be itself a complaint. But with weather meddling—scientific or not—almost upon us, his comment might well be interpreted as a complacent boast.

Ten years from now will we still be able to observe thankfully that nobody does anything about it? If the experts are correct in their estimate the chances are that the answer will be "no."

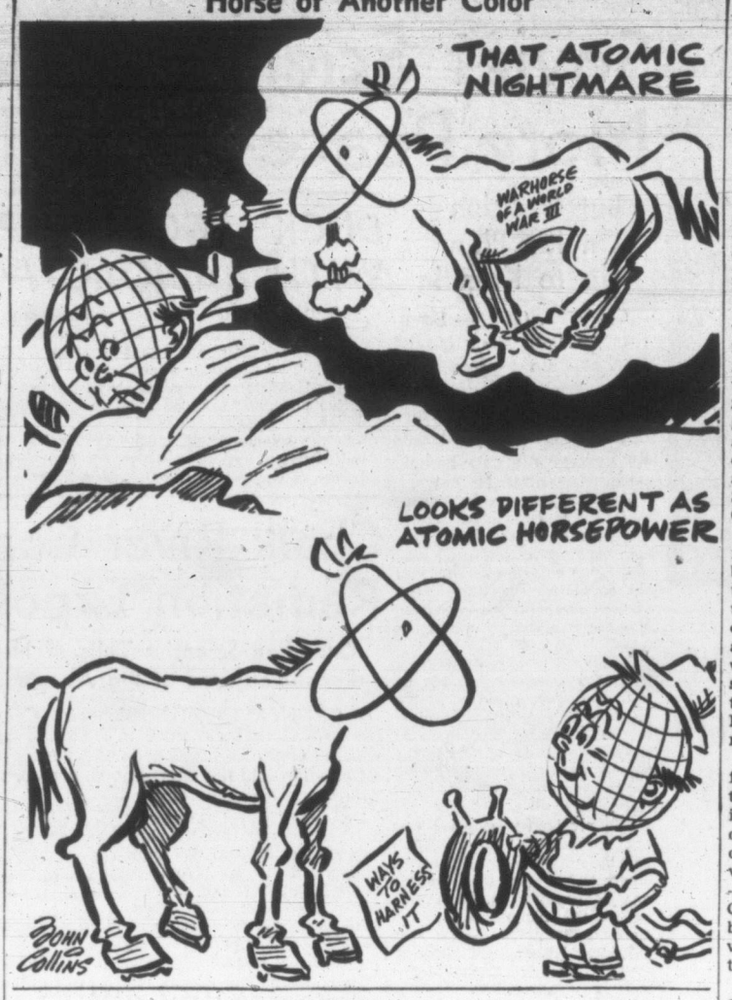
Some bureau of officials, some meteorological secretariat, will be calling the tune. And the farmers, the prospective picknickers, the strait swimmers, the home gardeners, the ladies with new hats, and all others who have a personal interest in whether it is fair or foul, will be completely at their mercy.

For who could be trusted with control of the weather; who would prove trustworthy or wise enough to order heat, cold, humidity, dryness? Who could impartially call for rain in the face of his own rheumatism, or arrange a fortnight's hot dry spell knowing it would raise hob with his hayfever? Does the man live who would not let some personal consideration sway his judgment in such a matter? Could he bring down a foot of skiers' snow on his grandmother's funeral; or appease the ice skaters at the expense of traffic accidents?

It may be that there are some persons reckless enough to allow themselves to be appointed to such an office. But their punishment would be on their own heads: in no time at all they would be led babbling away to the calm security of a padded cell.

Our weather ultimately would remain safe in the custody of the angels, for lack of fools to rush in.

Horse of Another Color



Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

EVERY little while I run across some psychologist or other, amateur or professional, who trots out the old theory that a man can only go in for violence and destruction and malicious damage to property (while in a tantrum) if he is a weakling. One of the chief reasons for smashing stuff and throwing stuff while angry or desperate is to shock people. Either to shock yourself or to shock the beholder. Usually both. And this has nothing to do with weaklings wanting to feel strong.

Brock

ONE of the most sudden kickers and smashers I know is an actress who must weigh the best part of two hundred pounds, and who keeps in fighting trim. And her character is as strong as her body. I don't say it's a good character, but it is a strong character. It is a regular steam-roller of a character. In many ways she is rather like a blonde gorilla with a strong sense of humor. (Yes, lots of people kick stuff and bust stuff while having quite a good sense of humor. The action of kicking and busting may even appeal to their sense of humor, a motive that would escape many a psychologist.) How my friend would laugh at the theory that she is a sissy who is scared of her own husband.

IT WILL HAVE BLOOD

WANT to hear some more about psychologists? All right. A pal of mine said that since one of my boys is almost fourteen, the kid will soon be at the age when he wants to kill me. Kill me on a charge of being his father. I said I didn't think the kid would necessarily go through such a stage at all. In fact, I had pretty well fixed things so he couldn't.

But my friend said "Oh, I know what I'm talking about. I wanted to kill my father myself. In fact, I still do." My friend being 44, going on 45! I said this didn't prove anything about other fathers and other sons, who would hasten to disassociate themselves entirely from his peculiar set-up. He said "Oh, but all the psychologists will tell you that all boys want to murder their fathers."

Whereupon I got a little impatient and said, "This merely proves that boys who want to kill their fathers are apt to turn into psychologists, if they don't watch out." And for the rest of the evening I was able to get a rise out of my friend by quoting Lady Macbeth: "Who would have thought the old man to have had so much blood in him?"

LEGAL RIGHTS

OVER in Burnaby, last month, a magistrate strenuously rebuked a Vancouver policeman for treating a motorist with various sorts of violence, physical and otherwise. One of the officer's complaints against the motorist was that the latter tore up the traffic ticket that had been handed to him. The magistrate said any driver is at liberty to tear up such a ticket. The officer's duty is to hand the driver the ticket, not to preserve it against sacrilege, iconoclasm, and spite.

IT had never occurred to me that I was free to tear up such a ticket. But of course I am. How silly of me to have neglected this noble gesture of independence and manly cheerfulness. You know, what we dumb motorists need is a little booklet, got out by some automobile association or other, telling us just what a policeman can do to us and what he can't do. We all know he should endeavor to be polite to us, but there our knowledge ends. And there isn't any way of enforcing such politeness. There are other things we should know, many of them enforceable. For example, a letter on this page, a few months ago, quoted the Lord Chief Justice of England to this effect: any time a policeman in a motor car or on a motor cycle lays a charge against you for speeding, and uses his own speed as evidence, you should lay a charge against him.

MANY years ago in Vancouver there was a rough but ingenious old criminal lawyer who knew the law far better than any policeman did. An earnest but misguided young officer refused to take his hand off the lawyer's steering wheel and refused to jump down off the lawyer's running-board. So after a brief but sufficient warning, the old lawyer brought a monkey-wrench smartly down upon the policeman's forearm. After which the officer left the scene

. Talking about it later in the barristers' robing-room, the lawyer remarked thoughtfully "The Chief tells me I broke his wrist." And the other lawyers made suitable clucking noises, as if to say "Cops will be boys." I wouldn't like to break a cop's wrist myself. But I'd like to know when it is my duty to do so.

INCIDENTALLY, I have never quite understood the superstitious fear of lawyers that exists behind so many blue uniforms. As a rule, policemen are scared stiff of lawyers. If the Queen had a medal for being brave in the presence of barristers, hardly one cop would ever win it. Children frighten themselves with talk of policemen, but policemen frighten themselves with Old Cops' Tales about what are really rather third-rate legal smart alecks. There should be a booklet for policemen, too, telling them not to fear any lawyers except ones with monkey-wrenches.

As Our Readers See It

FROM BOTH BARRELS

I have just read your cover-up editorial on the coming Lillooet by-election called "The Split Vote." Once more the Liberal party's mouthpiece must save face for Mr. Gordon Gibson and his party.

You are extremely upset that the official opposition has named J. Thomas to carry the CCF banner at the coming by-election, and you hint that he will cause you defeat by taking anti-government ballots.

When the alternative ballot came in you were opposed to that; now that the Bennett government has abolished the transferable vote you say it is rigged and tailored. As the writer of your editorial may see the possibility of Mr. Gibson not getting elected at Lillooet he says, "But a handful of voters in the small riding of Lillooet cannot be regarded as a very significant sample of public opinion." Such confidence the writer has for Mr. Gibson?

It is also mentioned that the abundant financial resources of Social Credit will be thrown into the campaign—don't you think the public is beginning to realize that both the Social Credit and the Liberals get their money from big business and are therefore obligated to them, whereas the CCF relies on its members, supporters and friends, and has no obligation to big business but to the people of B.C., not just the mighty few, but every man, woman and child.

Furthermore, to top off the nearing failure of Mr. Gibson your writer had this to say, "The CCF evidently thought that it must nominate a candidate as a kind of electoral gesture, without hope of success." It seems to me the writer has a very poor memory—by accident of course—for in the general election of 1953 the CCF candidate led his nearest opponent by 300 votes in the first count. Even when all the non-CCF votes were totaled the CCF was only beaten by 136 votes.

When the people of B.C. want a real change for the better, whether it is Lillooet or all of British Columbia, the party for true justice and democracy to all is the CCF.

WAITING FOR A TURN

Please, Mr. Editor, now that a very considerate Duncan resident has quite ably and politely explained exactly what is on the minds of many of your subscribers regarding the unfriendly, uninteresting, and the particularly unqualified opinions of Cordova Bay's "gentleman of letters," would you kindly call a halt to these unpleasantries?

No reasonable person could possibly find just cause for quarrel with the very modest and truly-experienced advice and opinions of the English-Canadian reader of Duncan, B.C. (Your August 9th issue, Letters to the Editor.)

The demands of any one person for a gluttonous share of "freedoms" with the press, or anything else—constitutes a selfish disregard for other people's equal rights. When you consider that there are over one hundred thousand other democratic citizens residing hereabouts who are also entitled to their equal shares of the same "freedoms", it should, quite properly, be some considerable time before the Reverend D. C. O'Connell's regular "turn" comes 'round again.

The Reverend enjoys the same fully protected rights and privileges that any other citizen does—no more, no less—and therefore, he should not object to "getting in line" with the rest of us.

WICKED SOCREDS

The Social Credit government keeps you informed because they do little else. They are not too happy about it most of the time. Claiming to be inspired by carefully culled extracts from Holy Writ or Thomas Jefferson they stagger under a double burden of natural gas and much natural stupidity.

Spell-binders at snap election times but needing binders other times—just what is their true record? The sales tax has been increased. B.C. hospitals report large deficits. Patronage has died under Social Credit very publicly. Its resurrection had no such fanfare.

The provincial debt gets smaller every time it's mentioned by Socred financial experts.

Principles and policies are meaningless words to that strange league called Socreds.

CONDITION OF DEER

Now that we have an open season for deer would it not be a good time to bring in some fresh blood? During the war men were bringing deer into my place so poor they had not a speck of fat on them and were so covered with ticks I, being an old butcher, did not consider them fit to eat. From what the hunters said the majority came from Portage Inlet. A few from Salt Spring were in better condition. I think something should be done to improve their condition.

ARTHUR E. JOHNSON.

MISSIONARY MORALS

As a certain film casts reflection upon a decent-living body of men and women I would offer a strong word in their defence. During more than 45 years' residence in the Far East I never heard or read of adverse criticism respecting their private lives. Native papers would have been quick to publish any lapse; houseboys are full of gossip.

Defence offered by a religious body might be suspect, but coming from a former business head it should carry weight.

France: All Passion Spent

By STEWART ALSOP, From Paris

"THE French people do not wish to be troubled or upset. They wish only to be entertained and kept interested. That is the present mood of France, and Mr. Faure understands the mood very well. That is why, bar the worst kind of crisis in North Africa, his government should last through to the elections in the spring." The speaker was a high official in the government of Prime Minister Edgar Faure, who is probably's France's cleverest politician. The Faure government has no intention whatsoever of troubling or upsetting the French people, if it can possibly help it. As a result, most observers here agree that the Faure government has a better chance of survival than any French government in a long time—if only the trouble in North Africa can somehow be dealt with.

Alsop

CALMLY PROSPEROUS

Except for North Africa, all the passion of French politics has suddenly been spent. When this reporter was last in France two years ago, France was engulfed in a great wave of strikes, and two tremendous issues—the war in Indo-China and the rearmament of Germany—were troubling and upsetting the French people.

Now France is calmly prosperous. Production stands at 176 per cent of prewar. In the last year wages have increased by 8 per cent, while living costs have held steady. In contrast to England, there is no monetary crisis.

All in all, although basic dislocations in the French economy still exist, France is better off now than the most dreamily optimistic Marshall Aid planners dared hope a few short years ago.

And now the tremendous issues of two years ago no longer even interest France. As for Indo-China, that unfortunate country has simply ceased to exist in French eyes. The process of total abandonment began at Dienbienphu, continued at Geneva, and was completed this spring, when the United States insisted on backing the violently anti-French Premier Diem.

'YOUR BABY'

As one French official rather bitterly put it: "If you want to shove a knife in our backs, you can hardly expect us to help you push it in. Now Indo-China is your baby, and we wish you joy from it."

The process of handing over the baby is proceeding apace. French troops are being withdrawn at the rate of 10,000 a month, and by January next there will be left hardly more than a corporal's guard.

From top to bottom, the French have written off Indo-China as lost already. This reporter, whose French is halting and most inelegant, asked another high official whether he thought Indo-China was "foutu," an impolite word which means, more or less, "all washed up." No, he replied, smiling, Indo-China is not "foutu," but "fichu"—a more polite word which means exactly the same thing.

At any rate, the French nowadays do not want to have to think about Indo-China or talk about Indo-China, which is perhaps not surprising.

But it is surprising that they do not want to think or talk about the rearmament of Germany, which was not long ago the most passionately debated of all issues in France. German rearmament is now accepted as an accomplished fact.

Strangely enough, nowadays the French are not even much disturbed by the prospect of Germany maintaining a bigger army on the Continent than France. Partly this is because the French have at last begun to believe in the Anglo-American commitment in NATO. Partly it is because they have come to realize that, in the nuclear age, the balance of power can no longer be measured in numbers of divisions. But mostly it is because, especially since Geneva, the French simply do not believe in war any more.

This is the most striking aspect of the new mood of France. It is not optimism, exactly—any sensible Frenchman would furiously resent being called an optimist. It is a "relaxation of tensions" so complete as to amount to a condition of total nervelessness.

FOUND EXPRESSION

This nerveless complacency is known as "the spirit of Geneva." The spirit of Geneva recently found appropriate expression when the Senate committee on national defence voted overwhelmingly to reduce the term of conscription from 18 months—which the NATO experts have long regarded as inadequate—to 16 months.

The wisest American observers here believe that Geneva was a net plus for the United States as far as France is concerned, for one simple reason. Geneva knocked into a cocked hat the almost universal French image of American policy as inflexible and warlike.

This is a real achievement, but nerveless complacency in America's principal continental ally may in the end prove a high price to pay for it.

Yet here is one subject which still causes French nerves to jump and jangle. The subject is, of course, the mounting crisis in North Africa. The French reaction today to the North African crisis is oddly reminiscent of the passionate paralysis which was the French reaction to Indo-China six or seven years ago—which is one reason why this reporter will soon fly to North Africa for a first-hand look.

NOTHING NEW

There's special concealment by resemblance to some particular part of the surroundings; then there's disguise—resemblance to some object or objects in the surroundings; and there's deflection—that is, the guiding of the interest of the enemy to some expendable or irrelevant part. All these things are found in the animal kingdom; and all the methods that we have used for concealment in war—every one of them—is known in the animal kingdom.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Wife Won in Card Game

LONDON—Names in the news . . . DANNY KAYE: I seem to remember that a few years ago he didn't endear himself at all to Toronto newspaper men by his attitude toward them when he arrived to do a stint at the Ex. He's just repeated the process here in London. When he arrived here (for seven weeks at the Palladium at a reputed $28,000 a week) his treatment of pressmen at the airport might be politely described as cavalier.

Reyburn

He followed this up at the press reception at his hotel by giving what one columnist described as "the most devastating, face-reddening performance I have seen off-stage this year." The publicity department of the Palladium hastened to chide the paper concerned for this and other lengthy charges about Kaye's lack of tact and manners by saying that the reception was "to welcome Danny Kaye" and those who didn't want to welcome him should have stayed away.

Which brought the counter-blast from the paper: "What a pretty idea is wrapped up here. Come and meet our stars—but don't be critical." All of which will have not the least effect on Kaye's appearance at the Palladium. Every performance will be a sellout. They idolize him here. The public, that is.

JOHNNY RAY, very close friend indeed of Noel Coward, has surprised many by his announced intention of marrying a British dance band singer named Sylvia Drew. While being chased in and out of theatres up and down the country by screaming bobby-soxers during his current provincial tour, he has taken time out to tell of his love for Sylvia. It blossomed, apparently, while he was teaching her his favorite card game, Hearts.

"She became so good at it," says Ray, "that soon she was winning every night. 'If you keep winning like this,' I told her, 'I'll have to marry you.' Everybody laughed. So did we. But when our eyes met we knew it wasn't just a joke. Just three weeks after we had met I kissed her on the lips and I didn't need my deaf-aid to hear the ringing of bells in my ears . . ." And so on.

SABRINA: She's the girl (real name Norma Sykes) who became the overnight talk of the nation by appearing in a TV series with Arthur Askey and wandering around the sets without uttering a word. Her figure left viewers just as speechless.

Off the TV screens now, she's decided to keep her publicity going by doing a Marilyn Monroe. She has called in the aid of Scotland Yard to stop people peddling pictures of her taken in the nude when she was a struggling young model in London trying to turn an honest penny.

* * *

ERIC WILLIAMS: You may not remember his name right away but you will when I tell you that he was the man who turned his prisoner of war adventures to such good financial advantage with the book, "The Wooden Horse," now a classic escape story plus being a highly successful film.

He brings hopes to budding authors, plus demonstrating yet again how wrong publishers can be, by confessing that it took him five years to sell the manuscript: "It went to publisher after publisher and the whole book was rewritten at least 12 times. It was five years before a publisher could be found with sufficient vision to take a chance on it."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A Note on Heredity

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation.

It is remarkable sometimes how much alike a couple of second cousins can be in body-build, in face, in temperament and in tendencies to illness. I remember one day in San Francisco, when an old friend of mine from Hawaii (named Burbank) dropped in for luncheon. Looking at her long, narrow head and long narrow face, I said, "You look so much like Luther Burbank, the 'plant wizard', that you two must be related." "Yes," she said, "We are second cousins." Then it occurred to me that I had a friend in San Francisco, also named Burbank, who looked so much like my friend from Hawaii that they could be brother and sister. Picking up the phone, I called the man and got him to come over. Within a few minutes my two friends were able to identify a great-grandfather they had in common.

Dr. Alvarez

I may once have told in this column how, one day some years ago, I had in the office a highly intelligent single woman suffering from a severe and peculiar type of neurosis or minor psychosis. She had a name so rare that never before had I met a person with it. A year or so later, in came another able, single woman with the same rare family name, and she was suffering from the same severe neurosis or minor psychosis that the other woman had had. Later, I ran into another single woman with the rare name, also attractive, keen, wide-awake, and holding a responsible position. She had much the same nervous symptoms as decsribed by the other two women. They could easily have been sisters they were so alike. This week I met a nice physician with the odd name, and he confessed that he and some of his relatives had had a mild psychosis. I tried to get these four persons to tell me how they were related, but they did not know.

17,000 SPAULDINGS

Why do I think they are related? First, because most persons in this country with an unusual English name are related. I once saw a book which listed, as I remember, 17,000 Spauldings in this country. Every Spaulding I had ever known was listed.

Another reason for believing that these persons are related is that every so often, when a geneticist is studying some rare disease, when he gets the big family tree constructed, with perhaps 1,000 members fitted into it, it will become obvious that everyone with that trouble whose case was ever reported in this country belonged to that family.

One look, then, at the big chart, with its black squares and circles (representing affected males and females) will show how the inheritance came down from certain persons, and failed to appear at all in other branches of the family.

MOTHER WHO NEVER FUSSED

Recently, I saw a rather harum-scarum young woman with a faculty for getting herself into uncomfortable situations; for instance, every so often she would get engaged to some attractive scamp who had no money and no prospects. She loved to drive too fast in her car, and hence she had many a ticket handed her; she had a tendency to spend more money than she could afford; occasionally she might drink a little too much, or she might sign a cheque for more money than she had in the bank.

What interested me much was what she told me about her wonderful mother, who, when apprised of a new escapade, never wasted any time fussing or placing blame or scolding or wringing her hands or blowing her top. All she ever did was to say, "Well, let's see; how can we get you out of this?"

I imagine there are hundreds of thousands of young people who would like to have a mother like that; and I imagine such a mother would handle a harum-scarum child much better than the other type of mother does who frets and stews and scolds for an hour. One great advantage that the non-scolding mother has is that quickly she knows the worst about a scrape. Because her son or daughter has no fear of her, and only a great affection for her, she promptly gets the story with all its unvarnished details. The child who is afraid of his parent will conceal details, and this can easily lead to serious difficulties.

The mother who does not storm will keep the great affection of her child, and usually a harum-scarum child can be controlled best through affection. Even the harum-scarum daughter will have moments when she is sorry she brought much worry and annoyance onto her kind mother whom she greatly loves.

STUDIES OF FERTILITY

There is an American Society for the Study of Sterility (20 Magnolia Terrace, Springfield, Mass.), members of which are to be found in every large city of the land. These physicians are particularly interested in determining why a couple are not having children.

Recently, the claim was made that some 22 per cent of couples who have been infertile can be helped by experts and fixed up so that they can have a baby.

Irate Husband Slays Self, Eight Children

NEW DELHI (AP) — Newspaper reports today said a police inspector in India's Uttar Pradesh state shot and killed his eight children and himself in the bloody climax to a family quarrel. The mass slaying was touched off when the inspector beat his wife after accusing her of infidelity. Their oldest child, a 15-year-old girl, intervened, and the father then killed all the children before shooting himself.

MUD FOR SALE BUT NOT FOR SLINGING

Here's mud in your eye!

City MLA Mrs. Lydia Arsens believes she can sell the stuff, mud, not eyes.

She told the Gorge Waterways Improvement Association meeting Tuesday in City Hall the mud could be sold as fertilizer to pay for dredging costs.

"Sell the sludge," she urged. "It's very rich soil and could be used to offset costs involved."

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Regular Faded Bloom Removal Perks Up Many Garden Annuals

With many local fall flower shows taking place within the next four or five weeks, there is plenty to do in the flower garden in preparation.

Hilda

Among the annuals are many listed every year in these shows, yet all too seldom are good specimens shown. There is a tendency to allow them to look after themselves by mid-August.

This week take time to remove every faded bloom, or even every full bloom from such plants as zinnia, African marigold, annual scabious and aster, and other larger-flowered annuals which you hope to use as show material.

Then scatter dry fertilizer around the plants, cultivate lightly, water thoroughly, and cultivate lightly again after the moisture has soaked into the soil. This treatment will not only give you good blooms during September, but will, of course, prolong the fine appearance of the annual border.

Among the perennials, dahlias will need feeding, deep watering and disbudding. Side buds should be rubbed out as soon as visible, not removed on show day. By early removal, more nourishment goes into the flower which remains, thus improving its quality.

Size is not the all-important factor, either in show blooms or garden display; quality is a more elusive but more desirable element. This may be summarized in the term general appearance. Vigor, color, texture and habit according to the type of plant are all involved in the term quality.

Cultivation, feeding and watering carried out now will pay dividends in beauty among all the fall-blooming perennials—late-blooming lilies, Michaelmas daisies, heleniums, chrysanthemums, and solidagos.

ONE UP FOR TORONTO; PEARS ON LILAC TREE

'Mr. Freight Rates' Knowles Named to Transport Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's "Mr. Freight Rates"—Leonard J. Knowles — Tuesday was named to the board of transport commissioners which regulates the country's $1,000,000,000-a-year railway business.

L. J. KNOWLES

The 68-year-old retired CNR freight chief, acknowledged top expert in his field, succeeds O. A. Matthews, 63, a chartered accountant who is expected to be retained as part-time financial adviser to the six-man board.

Appointment of Mr. Knowles, it was learned, was approved at a cabinet meeting Tuesday, effective Sept. 1. An official announcement was expected in a day or so.

For about four years, Nottingham-born Mr. Knowles has been acting as traffic adviser to the board, originally on a part-time basis and then full-time after his superannuation from the CNR at the end of 1952. He now lives in Montreal. He was assistant to CNR president Donald Gordon at the time of his retirement.

Aerial-Pierced Boy Fights Back to Life

VANCOUVER (CP)—A six-year-old boy, paralyzed when his brain was pierced with a car aerial, was making a miraculous recovery Tuesday.

Bobby Jones of Rossland was able to laugh and moved his right leg, arm and hand for the first time since last Wednesday.

"He's much better today," his mother, Mrs. Wanda Jones, said. The boy is still unable to talk.

Last week, while Bobby was playing with his brother, a car radio aerial pierced his eye and entered his brain. Rossland doctors who examined him in his back yard gave him only moments to live.

Doctors here marvelled that the boy was still alive after a tortuous ambulance trip. By a "million-to-one" chance, the sharp aerial apparently missed the optic nerve.

All available aircraft in the West Kootenays had been chartered at the time of the accident.

The injury paralyzed his right side and he was unable to eat or speak. Doctors said for the first time they "have real hope" of Bobby's eventual recovery.

Knights of Columbus Membership 929,996

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Knights of Columbus reported Tuesday its membership has reached 929,996, biggest in the Roman Catholic service organization's 73-year history. Supreme knight Luke E. Hart made the report at the opening of the national convention and said the membership was spread over 3,506 councils, which include those in the U.S., Canada, Cuba, Mexico and the Philippines.

Area's Sewer Systems Bring Reduction in Contamination

The quantity of sewage going into the Gorge now is considerably reduced as area homes link up with sewage systems, the Gorge Waterways Improvement Association heard from municipal engineers Tuesday at a City Hall meeting.

Thus with contamination possibility reduced, swimming can be expected there by next summer, association chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said.

Mr. Edgelow reported sewage from the Wilkinson Road mental home within six weeks will no longer go into the Gorge as new facilities have been installed there.

LITTLE POLLUTION

Saanich engineer H. D. Dawson said that by the end of 1957 "practically 100 per cent" of area homes will be linked to the sewer system. This would mean, he said there would be a hardly appreciable amount of contamination for the Gorge.

By the end of 1956 all homes in Esquimalt will be sewered, said Esquimalt engineer John Graeme. At present some 70 homes deposit solid sewage in the Gorge.

Chief sanitary inspectory for Victoria and Esquimalt, Elwood Gropp, said sanitary quality of the Gorge water is becoming better, but he urged a continuing survey be undertaken to establish the exact situation.

He surmised: "The problem may not be as bad as we think it is."

All factors must be considered—present pollution, winds, tides, shipping and industrial waste in the water, he said.

Mr. Edgelow said dredging must be done to clear out sludge. He estimated cost of suction dredging at about 50 cents a square yard. Involved in any such project would be 400,000 square yards of sludge.

SWIM NOW

Mr. Edgelow said: "Let's not fool ourselves, youngsters are swimming there now anyway, though unofficially."

He said that despite contamination, there had been no reports of direct infection due solely to youngsters using Gorge waters for swimming.

James Dunn of Great West Life told the association of an "insurance trust" plan whereby interested persons could buy themselves an insurance policy with investment turned towards Gorge development.

He said similar projects operated successfully in the United States. A committee was formed to study the suggestion.

Brentwood Lighting Due for Discussion At Public Meeting

Location of Street Lights Chief Issue In Establishment of Proposed Scheme

By DICK FREEMAN
Times Brentwood Correspondent

SAANICHTON—Taxpayers of the Brentwood district will be given the opportunity of voting for or against a proposed street lighting system at a public meeting scheduled for Sept. 19.

The decision was reached Tuesday evening on motion of Clr. Harry Peard after Central Saanich council, sitting as a committee of the whole, heard a review of the scheme by members of the lighting committee.

The committee was composed of Dr. Herman B. Wood, Victor J. Wood, W. F. Grafton and Alexander Cuthbert.

The lighting scheme was launched last year by Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce but the project was bogged down largely on the question of division of costs.

Location of the lights aroused considerable dissatisfaction in the district with claims registered that Beach Drive was getting the bulk of the illumination to the detriment of other areas.

REDUCING COST

The original scheme called for a total of 23 lights in the Brentwood district.

Mr. Cuthbert informed council the committee had decided to eliminate three lights at present maintained by the municipality, leaving a total of 20 lights to be installed under the new setup.

Outside cost of the scheme now proposed would be $4,240, to be financed over a period of 10 years, it was explained by municipal clerk D. S. Wood.

Victor Wood denied it was the intention to light up the district like Coney Island.

It had been intended to limit the cost to $3 per taxpayer annually.

The committee in the first place, had been working under the wrong statute and resultant developments had built up the costs to twice the original figure. Under those conditions the lighting project had been defeated before it got started, he said.

Philip S. Lomas explaining he was not opposed to an adequate lighting scheme, favored a public meeting where all the angles could be thrashed out by those most affected.

He complained the distances were too great between lights, specifically citing 1,000 feet on Clark, 1,250 feet on West Saanich, and 2,200 feet on Marchants Road.

"Do Beach drive and leave us out in the dark," he said.

Mr. Cuthbert argued the increasing car traffic on Verdier and Beach warranted the additional lights.

ALL OR NOTHING

"Perhaps its the slums where I live," said Reeve H. R. Brown, "but only three lights, at Sanders, Harding, Norman and Stellys, have been allocated to the congested Moodyville district.

"I want a decent lighting system or none at all," the reeve added. He said on being questioned after, that five lights for Moodyville would be adequate.

The Saanich parks board has "always been against foreshore leases" it was disclosed by Lorne Thomson, who, with George V. Williams, appeared before council to outline the board's position affecting allocation of waterfront leases.

Capt. Eric Barnes, Jack Miller, and Claude Creed, leaseholders who want their leases extended to cover additions to their present sport fishing and boat rental floats, will have a chance to meet the parks board.

After they had explained their position to council, Reeve Brown told them they would be invited to a parks board meeting in the immediate future to discuss their plans further.

The parks board members did not seem to favor the proposed float extensions.

"That's a big bite out of the bay," commented Mr. Williams when Mr. Creed admitted that his floats would extend 300 feet seaward under the proposed extension.

"We are here merely to protect the people of the district," he said, adding that the floats appeared to have all the traffic they could stand.

HOUSE RENUMBERING PROJECT BEGUN IN LANGFORD DISTRICT

LANGFORD—Houses on Millstream Road have been renumbered to launch a drive by Langford Fire Protection District to change numbers on all houses in its area.

Fire Chief Rod Bayles said the district affected will include all that between the Highlands and Happy Valley. He expects the job to take from four to five months.

Householders will be informed of their new numbers, which must be mounted in a visible position not more than 30 feet from the property line.

Council Refuses Third Bid To Build Shop on Highway

SAANICHTON—W. H. Landy made his third unsucessful attempt Tuesday night to secure permission to erect a coffee bar on the Patricia Bay highway.

When he appeared before Central Saanich council he was told by Reeve H. Rupert Brown that all building permits other than those for residences must be approved by the council.

His realtor, S. L. G. Pope of Sidney, reiterated that with no zoning by-law in force, council had no power to refuse a permit.

The reeve replied that a zoning by-law was in the course of preparation, and that he would confer with the municipal solicitor "to see where we stand."

Operators of the Echo Inn, located at the intersection of Benvenuto Avenue and Wallace Drive, sought approval for a licence to serve liquor with meals.

On motion of Clr. John Windsor, council ruled that it had no objection provided the establishment met the requirements of the Liquor Contral Board.

Chemainus Legion Members Honored

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus Branch 191, Canadian Legion, made a presentation of a life membership to A. E. Pulling, who will celebrate his 85th birthday this week.

The presentation was made in recognition of the services Mr. Pulling rendered while a member of Cowichan Branch 53, Duncan.

Honored in a separate presentation ceremony was W. Rice, secretary of the local branch until ill health forced his retirement some months ago. He was given a fishing reel, gaff and cheque. Several years ago he was made a life member of the branch.

Fire Risk, Large Inventory Close Island Logging Camp

CHEMAINUS — The Copper Canyon logging operation of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., has been shut down because of hazardous fire conditions and an oversupply of logs at Chemainus sawmill division.

Log stocks at the sawmill are higher than usual this year, owing to the operation's uninterrupted production during a period when fire season closures usually are experienced. Comany officials report the log supply is always kept at a point adequate to see the mill through the usual fire season, but not large enough to incur teredo damage which results when logs are left in salt water too long.

The Copper Canyon operation will remain shut down for the remainder of the month.

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Jo Healy

CAYCUSE—I LIKE TO BE on the veranda at seven o'clock on a sunny morning, coffee-pot at hand. The day promises to be hot and already the air holds a bland warmth.

The last of the big trucks has rumbled off to the woods, and momentary peace prevails. The weeping willow trails languid fingers in the stir of breeze. Against the hill a wisp of fog dreamily dissolves; the lake lies calm, golden in the sun, opalescent in shadow. The old fisherman rows slowly by, silhouetted like a mobile woodcarving of of ancient times.

The blackbird flock appears. They are comical birds, rusty in the sun, with rusty cries that change to the purest melody. Clumsy in flight and clumsy, too, as they pace the lawn with jerky little steps. The twins stagger along behind mama, as big as she, gaping jaws into which she carelessly drops an occasional and juicy worm.

In an isolated instance of utter quiet, a loon's cry drifts around the point. The morning holds its breath and the cry comes again, soft as a ghost's lament.

* * *

OLD MURPHY, THE Springer, climbs the stairs and collapses beside me, emitting a whistling sigh, part weariness and part content. The birds ignore him. Bird dog that he is, his sport is charging after butterflies as they sail by in their maddeningly elusive flight.

A trout leaps in an arc of glittering silver and splashes back into the lake. The sun brings forth the delicate perfume of phlox and rose. Sistie's happy voice next door greets the morning. The day has begun.

Starts to look like it's not all gravy in the Mulligan stew.

FOR LIGHT AND MERRY summer reading get hold of Christopher Morley's "Parnassus on Wheels" and "The Haunted Bookshop." Here is entertainment at its most blithesome best.

Worth reading in any season, I suggest them principally for summer reading because most readers prefer something simple to nibble on in warm weather.

So meander gaily through the New England countryside behind the old white horse Pegasus, riding in style on "Parnassus," the traveling book store. Your companions will be the whimsical purveyor of second-hand books, bald-pated, red-bearded Roger Mifflin, and the new owner of "Parnassus," Miss Helen Gill, a wholesome spinster of almost forty, who hands over her life-savings for the acquisition of the irresistible rig. Share their laughable adventures, their lovable, naive romance.

Go on from there to "The Haunted Bookshop."

* * *

IN THIS VOLUME ROGER and Helen are comfortably married, and are proprietors of a second-hand bookshop in Brooklyn, known as Parnassus at Home, which proves to be truly haunted.

Their household consists of, besides themseves, the dog Bock (short for Boccaccio) until they acquire an assistant in the person of a winsome, young and lovely damsel. Romance is woven through the yarn between a young advertising man and the assistant; adventure in a quite ridiculous, quite childish, exciting and plausible cloak-and-dagger plot. But the important entertainment values lies in Roger Mifflin's impish character, which, though beguilingly innocent, has a depth and a sagacity that compels the reader to pause and re-read many of his philosophies.

Nova Scotia Gypsum Find One of Largest in World

HALIFAX (CP)—At the rate of 5,600 tons a day, raw gypsum is being carted out of one of the world's biggest-known deposits for shipment from the new development on the shores of Bedford Basin.

National Gypsum Company's new facilities opened about a month ago and now two trains a day lug the gypsum to the loading piers six days a week.

The company says the deposit at East Milford is one of the greatest in the world and estimates 200,000,000 tons are within reach of its present quarry.

The company has purchased a 1,000-acre site and in time the quarry alone will develop into a 135-acre chasm.

The gypsum is shipped by water to eastern United States plants for manufacture into building materials and other purposes.

It took two years and 50,0000 feet of underground core samples to locate and prove the vast deposit. So far 15 acres of gypsum have been exposed to light by the removal of 500,000 yards of clay.

National Gypsum, one of the giants of the building industry, moved into Nova Scotia in 1936 when it purchased the Atlantic Gypsum Company. Since then, it estimates its spending in the province at about $20,000,000.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most grain prices showed an irregularly easier tone in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg exchange.

December and May oats, barley and flax as well as all months of rye showed new seasonal lows.

Overseas business in coarse grains reported parcel lots of flax sold to the continent.

Considerable selling appeared in oats and barley. Support in these grains came from domestic shippers. There was a fair demand in barley.

Light hedges and commission houses selling in flax were absorbed by export buying. A few rye hedges were in evidence.

Overnight export loadings of wheat included: United Kingdom, 700,000 bushels; Japan, 335,000; Belgium, 35,000, and Malta, 25,000.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

MONTREAL (CP)—U.S. dollar was at a discount of 98 19-32 cents at noon today. Pound sterling $2.74⅝.

TODAY'S MARKET SUMMARIES

Main Attention Given to Copper

NEW YORK (AP)—Coppers were in heavy demand today in a lower stock market.

Price changes ranged around 2 points either way, although most moves were small.

Coppers have been strong in recent days because of an anticipated price increase. Aircrafts were higher but turned mixed. Steels held steady. Rails were generally higher. Motors were unchanged to lower.

Canadian stocks were mixed. International Nickel dropped ⅜, Canadian Pacific fell ¼ and Distillers Seagram advanced ⅜.

MONTREAL (CP) — Industrials moved erratically amid dull transactions on the stock market today.

Algoma jumped a point, International Power ⅞ and Dominion Stores ⅜.

Shawinigan and Weston fell a point, General Dynamics and Canadian Industries ¾.

Base metals improved slightly while beverages were steady to fractionally higher. Papers were mixed and senior oils, lower. Utilities, steels and banks held mainly steady.

Mines were stronger in a narrow range. Bright spots included Consolidated Denison, up 1¼, and Campbell Chib, ½.

TORONTO (CP) — Gains in papers, steels, foods and textiles gave industrial issues a slim improvement in mid-afternoon trading.

Base metals lost headway after earlier gains. Uraniums continued better and other sections were mixed to lower.

Price changes in industrials were small, going to two points at best. Equitable Life and Loblaw B gained that amount.

Best gains in base metals were by Granduc, up 45 to $8,20, and Eastern Smelting, ahead 30 to $5.30.

Consolidated Denison led uraniums ahead with a $1 gain. Gunnar and Pronto improved fractionally.

In western oils, Midcon, after tumbling heavily, won back much of its lost ground and was off 20 at $1.05, trading 96,000 shares. Gridoil eased 30 to $8.50.

In a mixed golds section, Thompson-Lundmark's gain of 20 to $2.05 was the biggest change.

VANCOUVER — Market was slow, but stronger today. Canam Copper traded 8,000 shares. Opening price was $1.22, low, $1.20, and high, $1.23. National Exploration traded 8,000, opening at 90 cents, low 90, and high, $1.02. Granduc traded 5,000, opening at $7.75, low $7.75, and high, $8.25.

LONDON (Reuters) — With incentive lacking and few people willing to take a view on the outlook, the London stock markets dipped lower in small trading.

Gilt-edged showed sustained losses on small selling. There were many falls in industrials but these rarely exceeded one shilling. The dollar stocks reflected Tuesday's fall on Wall Street.

Coppers were firm on the rise in metal prices and on United States talk of a still higher price.

Oils were erratic and mostly lower.

Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox 88s, Bowater Paper Corp. 95s 6d, Canadian Pacific $59⅜, Central Mining 47s 10½d, Courtaulds 47s, Hudson's Bay Co. 173s 3d, Imperial Chemical 53s 4½d, Imperial Tobacco 60s, Metal Box 56s 3d, Mexican Eagle 22s 9d, Rand Mines 71s 3d.

Slumpless Summer Points To Big Autumn Business

By NORMAN M. McLEOD
BUP Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA (BUP) — Government economists who keep close watch over the state of the nation's business are particularly satisfied these days over the failure of the usual mid-summer slump to make its appearance.

They regard the absence of the traditional July - August slack season as impressive evidence of the momentum which the current year's business boom has gained.

They point out additionally that as a result of this happy situation, the normal autumn climb in the economy will be starting from a higher base than otherwise would be the case. Consequently it may be expected to reach a higher peak than if it had to start out by making up substantial lost ground.

The experts admit that since mid-July business has been tapering off from the records to which it climbed in the spring months.

But when compared with a year ago, its level is sharply higher virtually across the board.

The improvement over midsummer 1954 is said to vary from very substantial to just short of sensational in retailing, the automotive industry, basic steel, mining development, engineering and building construction and the manufacture of heavy durable goods.

Over and above the satisfactory volume of current transactions, the experts note that they are being carried on generally at an improved profit. The excessive heat of recent weeks added a factor of urgency to consumer buying of warm-weather merchandise. As a result, goods moved briskly without the necessity for bargain prices. While the effect on the consumer conceivably has been a modest rise in prices, the higher profit margins are reported to be enabling business to enter the autumn-winter season in a sound financial position.

The fact that the summer slump has been little more than nominal is causing economists to revise their forecasts for the balance of the year sharply upward. The expectation now is that 1955 will surpass the record level of 1953, and the tempo will carry forward into next spring and summer.

The employment situation is broadly encouraging. Nearly 175,000 more persons have jobs than a year ago, and the number of unemployed is around 157,000, just 7,000 more than the figure generally regarded as the minimum total of the nation's unemployables.

Not even during the Second World War, when 500,000 men were serving in the armed forces and a vast munitions program was engaging the civilian population, has a condition so close to full employment been achieved.

FORSTS SHARE $1 MILLION

VANCOUVER (BUP) — More than $1,000,000 will be split among five members of the Forst family of Vancouver as a result of the sale of the seven Forst's department stores to an English company.

The stores have been sold to Great Universal Stores of Canada Ltd., the Canadian subsidiary of Great Universal Stores of Britain.

The family sold its shares in the stores for $27 a common share and $1 a preferred share.

Trans-Canada To Sell Gas To Tennessee

Will Buy U.S. Gas in the East

CALGARY (CP) —Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. has signed a contract to sell 200,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily to Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., of Houston, Tex., at the international boundary near Emerson, Man.

There is an option to sell an additional 200,000,000 cubic feet daily when and if it is available, N. E. Tanner, Trans-Canada president, announced Tuesday.

The Canadian gas will be sold along a new pipe line to be built by Tennessee Gas from Minnesota to Tennessee, with sales principally to gas distribution companies having no present source of natural gas.

An application soon will be filed by Tennessee Gas with the federal power commission for permits to import the gas from Canada and to construct the proposed Minnesota-Tennessee pipe line.

Trans-Canada also has entered into a short-term contract to purchase up to 90,000,880 cubic feet daily of natural gas from Tennessee Gas at the international boundary near Niagara Falls, Ont. The gas will serve and develop markets in the area between Toronto and Montreal, prior to completion of the projected all-Canadian pipe line intended to carry Alberta natural gas to these markets.

When the Trans-Canada line has been completed to eastern Canada, Tennessee Gas has agreed to purchase surplus gas over and above the requirements of the eastern Canadian markets.

Hosiery Workers Defeat Pay Cut

LONDON, Ont. (BUP)—Employees at the London plant of the Holeproof Hosiery Company returned to work today to mark the end of a six-week strike by the Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO).

Ninety-eight per cent of the 170 strikers voted last night in favor of a return to work following the withdrawal Sunday of a company proposal to cut wages.

George Watson, district director of the union, said the agreement was for one year, subject to a wage reopening clause on Dec. 31.

The workers walked off their jobs July 6 protesting wage cuts. The strike affected about 300 employees including office workers.

The union agreed to meetings within the next 30 days to negotiate so-called "gross inequalities" in the plant. The firm agreed to maintain present wage levels until the new discussions begin.

Union officials said if no agreement is reached in wage negotiations beginning Dec. 31, a joint application will be made to the Ontario Labor Relations Board for leave to terminate the agreement.

Bays Win B Title

Score Six Goals In Last Quarter

Climaxing a tremendous final period drive with two overtime goals, Foul Bay defeated Jokers, 8-6, at Stevenson Park Tuesday night to win the Senior "B" Lacrosse League playoff championship in two straight games.

Foul Bay, who have won the league title every year since 1949, now have clinched the playoff crown six years out of the last seven, losing to Jokers in 1950.

The winners were badly outplayed for the first three periods, trailing, 5-0, when Don Pimlott scored their first goal at 4.30 of the fourth quarter.

RAIN OF GOALS

After that the tallies came thick and fast. The Bays rattled in four goals while Jokers were shorthanded, and were leading, 6-5, going into the final minute of play.

Jokers then snapped out of shock long enough to tie the game, Paul Calve scoring with three seconds left to send the contest into overtime.

In the extra session, Foul Bay continued to press the fading Jokers, with Jack Milburn notching the winner early in the frame and Norm Kowalyk adding an insurance marker with one minute left to play. Milburn and Kowalyk each scored three times for the winners.

NANAIMO NEXT

Foul Bay now will meet Nanaimo Jets sometime this month for the Island title. They lost out to Jets last year in the final, with Jets travelling to the B.C. final before losing out to Rossland.

Coach Alex McDonald hopes to obtain permission to use a junior line along the playoff trail to bolster his short-handed team, depending on how the Junior Shamrocks fare in their playoff battles.

Foul Bay has been short-handed all season, playing with a maximum of 12 men, and with some players due to be lost for the playoffs, an extra line will be sorely needed.

Scorers:

Foul Bay—Milburn 3, Kowalyk 3, Pimlott 1, Davidson 1. Total—8.
Jokers—Cunningham 2, Calve 2, Wakelyn 1, Moore 1. Total—6.

Best of the Champions

Coach Alex Macdonald, centre, congratulates the scoring stars of his Foul Bay senior "B" lacrosse league champions after their 8-6 win over Jokers at Stevenson Park Tuesday night. Jack Milburn, left, and Norm Kowalyk each poured in three goals to lead Foul Bay to the overtime victory. The win gave Foul Bay the senior "B" title for the sixth time in the last seven years.

Main Event Disrupted by Rioting Fans

Mayhem is getting to be a common occurrence at Memorial Arena. For the second week in a row, a riot has disrupted the main event of the weekly professional wrestling card at the Arena.

Tuesday night the main event was an Australian tag team match between Whipper Billy Watson and Ken Kenneth vs. villians Wee Willie Davis and Sky Hi Lee.

This time the match was officially stopped by Victoria Athletic Commission and declared "no contest."

But when the wrestlers were hustled to the dressing room the fight broke out again.

The trouble started during a general, free-for-all after Kenneth and Watson evened falls after 17 minutes. Wrestlers were thrown from the ring, spectators threw punches at anyone nearby, and police were called in to try and stop the fracas.

Watson suffered a gash on the back of the head when he was thrown head first onto the concrete floor.

During the more orderly preliminaries, Gordie Gordienko and Dave Pye of Victoria fought to a draw, and Timothy Geoghagen gained the nod over Lou Plummer.

HALIFAX, N.S.—Basil Marie, 140, Philadelphia, stopped Dick Howard, 138, Halifax (5).

Jim Norris Fed Up; Says G-Men Welcome

NEW YORK (AP)—Asserting he was "fed up with investigations," boxing promoter Jim Norris said Tuesday he would welcome federal control of boxing.

At the same time the president of the International Boxing Club said he doesn't deal with racketeers and will get out of business if he has to.

"If the commissions can't run boxing, if they're too impotent to do the job, then let the federal government run it. It may be the best solution. We're certainly not afraid of having the federal governmnt run it. It would be okay with us."

Norris also said he knows "nothing whatsoever about an FBI investigation of boxing."

Harry Markson, Norris' chief aide in New York, said department of justice men have been investigating the IBC operations in various cities in connection with the government's anti-trust suit against the IBC but said they were not "FBI men."

Norris stated his views as a result of reports from Detroit where the National Boxing Association is holding its annual convention.

The NBA Monday unanimously adopted a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the sport.

In Detroit, Senator Charles Potter (Rep.Mich.) said he will recommend a Senate investigation of charges of an underworld influence in professional boxing.

Frick Honors Fabled Dodgers

BROOKLYN (AP) — Baseball commissioner Ford C. Frick presented silver platters to members of Brooklyn's all-time all-star team between games of Sunday's doubleheader with Philadelphia.

Sixty-seven-year-old Zach Wheat, the left fielder and oldest member of the team, won the loudest applause when he hit three pitches served up by 64-year-old Dazzy Vance, the pitcher.

Cookie Lavagetto, the third baseman, tried to duplicate his famous double which spoiled Yankee Bill Bevens' no-hitter with two out in the ninth inning of the fourth game of the 1947 world series but didn't quite reach the right-field wall.

ITALIANS PREDICT WIN FOR AUSSIE CUP TEAM

PHILADELPHIA (BUP)—The Italian Davis Cup tennis team, loser by 5-0 to Australia in the interzone Finals completed Tuesday, predicted today that the Aussies will take the cup from America this year by a score of 3 to 2.

"Tony Trabert will win his two singles," said Nicola Pietrangeli, who won one set from Australian Ken Rosewall in the opening singles and lost to Lew Hoad Tuesday in straight sets, 9-7, 6-2, 6-3. "But America has no strong No. 2 man, and the Aussie doubles team is the best in the world."

Peewee 'Big Three' Share Boxla Glory

It was a three-man effort Tuesday at Stevenson Park as Saanich Tigers walloped Fernwood, 12-4, in a peewee lacrosse league game.

John Hansen and Bill Munroe scored seven and five goals respectively for Saanich, while Brian Spaven scored all four goals for the losers.

In bantam league play Tuesday, Saanich defeated Esquimalt, 6-4, at Stevenson Park to move into the league lead for the first time this year.

Brian O'Hare led the winners with four goals, with Jack May and Fred Wright each notching singletons.

Jack McDonald, Gary Millard, Denny Fea and Bob Hughes scored for Esquimalt.

GIRLS VS. BOYS

Thursday morning a peewee team will meet a girl's squad at 10 at Stevenson Park, with the same two clubs tangling again at Memorial Arena Friday night at 7 as a preliminary to the Shamrocks-Indians Intercity Lacrosse League tussle.

In the juvenile league, Oak Bay Shamrocks, who nipped Nanaimo, 9-8, Saturday at Nanaimo, will meet Strathcona Cafe tonight at 6 at Stevenson Park, while Hall Co. Big Horns clash with Jokers Friday night at 6 at Stevenson Park.

Ti-Cats Cut Squad

HAMILTON (CP) — Coach Carl Voyles of Hamilton Tiger-Cats said Tuesday night he has dropped three import players from the Big Four Football Club.

Released were tackle George Parazzo of William and Mary College, halfback Jim Philbee of Bradley University and end Tom Pepsin of Miami University.

THEY RILE THIS HOT-ROD WRESTLER

Women, Bah, Says Chris

By BILL RAYNER

Never trust a woman, especially with a highly intricate stock car . . .

This morsel of information is volunteered by Chris Benson, 23-year-old stock car driver from Youbou. Chris pilots car No. 88 around the dirt oval at Western Speedway most week-ends.

The car belonged to Digger O'Dell before the Ladysmith flash was drafted into the U.S. Army, and he sold it to Bill Hughes. Hughes lets Benson drive it for him.

O'Dell had considerable success when driving, but lately Benson has been having trouble with old No. 88. Never yet a winner of a main event this year, Chris has been in there trying, and his exuberance led to his rolling over the car on two successive Saturdays last month.

That was fine, and with a short layoff because of rain, Chris had the stocker in fine shape for the main event two weeks ago. Then the woman got into the act. Chris was prevailed upon to loan his car to Ruby Newton for the ladies' "powder puff" derby at Western.

You guessed it. Miss Newton wrapped No. 88 around a retaining wall and knocked it out of commission again.

Chris, who, despite his wife's protests, wants to win as many races as possible in the future, is all ready to go again this Saturday. He missed last Saturday's card because of an infected hand suffered in a previous roll-over.

Benson's hand should be all right for next Saturday's meet. It is the second time he has been injured, with the first time, last year, sending him to the hospital for a brief period.

Chris contends that he has no time to be scared, even on one of his roll-overs. And he is waiting to duplicate his biggest thrill, which came at Shearing's Speedway in July of last year, when he won the main event.

But in the future, Chris will be sticking behind the wheel alone. No women need apply, please.

NANAIMO INELIGIBLE TO HOST BOXLA FINAL

Mann Cup Here in Two Ways

By DENNY BOYD

Victoria lacrosse fans may see the Mann Cup final for the Canadian championship this year, even if their beloved Shamrocks do not take part.

If Shamrocks go on to defeat Mount Pleasant Indians in their semi-final series (Shamrocks currently holding a one-game edge) and then defeat the winner of the Nanaimo-Vancouver semi-final, the Mann Cup final would, naturally, be held in Victoria.

However, if Nanaimo Timbermen win their semi-final series and then win the league final, the majority of the Mann Cup games would be held, not at Nanaimo, but at Victoria's Memorial Arena.

Possibility of this situation has arisen because of Nanaimo Civic Arena's comparatively light 1,923 seating capacity.

A clause in the Canadian Lacrosse Association constitution states that the cup final cannot be held in any arena with a seating capacity under 3,000.

In addition, Nanaimo's arena is booked for a Fall Fair on the dates set for the second and third games.

In the likelihood of Nanaimo winning the league final and qualifying for the Mann Cup, probably only one game in the series would be held in Nanaimo.

Joe Dukowski, Victoria Memorial Arena manager, disclosed Tuesday that his arena would be available for any games moved to Victoria from Nanaimo. He said, "Tentative arrangements have been made for us to handle any games not played in Nanaimo."

Dr. Frank Kenny, president of the CLA, met over the week-end with officials of Nanaimo's arena commission and outlined the difficulties which would crop up should Nanaimo qualify as the Mann Cup host. The CLA would be obliged to take between $15,000 and $20,000 out of the gate receipts in the first four games of the best-of-seven series.

To cover expenses in Nanaimo's arena it would be necessary to charge $2.50 admission to equal the receipts gained by a $1 admission fee at Victoria's 5,000-seat Memorial Arena.

However, such a possibility is still nebulous with four teams battling for the right to host the final. But it still gives Victoria a 50-50 chance of seeing the Mann Cup series this year.

High-Flying Yanks Burst Bosox Bubble

New Yorkers Increase AL Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Has the bubble burst in Boston? The once-hot Red Sox, stepping on the heels of the leaders barely three weeks ago, now have tumbled to six defeats in their last 11 games, slipping 4½ games behind in the American League pennant race.

Red Sox took a real pasting Tuesday night, crumbling 13-6 before New York Yankees as the bombers won their seventh straight to snatch a 1½-game lead in the mad pennant scramble. Detroit Tigers knocked off Cleveland Indians 7-0 behind Billy Hoeft's two-hitter and Chicago White Sox replaced the Tribe in second place by subduing Kansas City Athletics 5-4 in 11 innings.

Baltimore Orioles smacked 16 hits, including Cal Abrams' two-run homer, to beat Washington Senators 7-2.

In the National, New York Giants dumped Brooklyn Dodgers 5-3, St. Louis Cardinals edged Milwaukee Braves 3-2, Cincinnati Redlegs whipped Chicago Cub 11-2 and Philadelphia Phillies trounced Pittsburgh Pirates 12-3.

MANTLE, LARSEN HOMER

Mickey Mantle clubbed a two-run homer, his 30th, and winning pitcher Don Larsen walloped a three-run homer as Yankees cuffed Boston ace Frank Sullivan.

Larsen won his fourth since returning from Denver, but wasn't around at the end. Tom Morgan mopped up for the righthander after Jackie Jensen's 20th home run, in the eighth inning, belted Larsen from the mound. Earlier, Larsen had given up homers to relief pitcher Dick Brodowski and Ted Williams.

Bill Skowron and Hank Bauer also homered for the leaders.

Bobby Avila singled off Hoeft in the first inning and Larry Doby duplicated it in the second before Cleveland went limp as the left-hander retired 21 men in order.

Kansas City scored just one run on a double and three singles to tie Chicago in the eighth, then made it 4-3 on Gue Zernial's pinch single in the 11th. White Sox came right back against Tom Gorman, Art Ceccarelli and Bill Harrington, loading the bases on two walks and Jim Rivera's bunt. Jim Busby's sacrifice fly tied it and Bob Kennedy's single won it.

WILLIE CLUBS 37TH

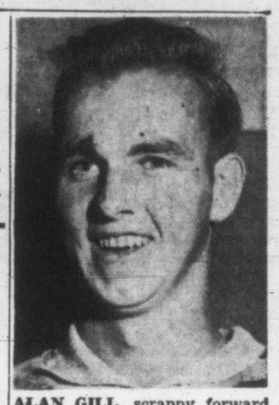
Willie Mays, got Giants home safe with his 37th homer, a two-run blow, for a 5-0 lead in the fifth before Roy Campanella solved Ruben Gomez for a three-run shot, his 26th, in the sixth. Johnny Podres lost it.

FAN-FORSAKEN DODGERS TO 'FARM' HOME GAMES

BROOKLYN (BUP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, stung by the stay-at-home tactics of fans once considered the most fanatic in baseball, took the first step out of Brooklyn today.

By arranging to play seven of their home games next season in Jersey City, N.J., and announcing they hope to vacate Ebbets Field after the 1957 season, the Dodgers issued a pretty plain warning that poor attendance could make them leave town permanently.

It's the first time in modern baseball history that a major-league team has "farmed out" any of its home games.



ALAN GILL, scrappy forward for Victoria Shamrocks, is a doubtful starter tonight when the Irish invade the Vancouver Forum to meet the Mt. Pleasant Indians in the second game of their best-of-five Inter-City Lacrosse League semi-final. Gill has been sidelined with a pulled leg muscle. Without Gill, the Rocks will employ the same line-up that vanquished the Indians, 10-1, at Memorial Arena Monday night.

City Kids No Pals To Schedule-Maker

City 7, Sevices 1

For a team that is playing its first year in Senior A Company, Victoria City is stepping on a lot of toes.

The Senior A Men's Softball League hoped to start its semi-finals tonight but the young City team up in Senior A ball after winning the B.C. Senior B title last year, is driving the schedule makers crazy.

Tuesday night at Central Park City defeated the cellar-dwelling United Services, 7-1, as coach Bud Ross won his twelfth game of the season. City has hopes of finishing as high as second place in the standings, if—and this is a big if—Arrow Furniture lose their final three scheduled games and City wins their final two scheduled games.

POSSIBLE TIE

If this comes about City and Arrows will end in a deadlock for second spot, necessitating a sudden-death playoff, and the league semis will not get under way until the first part of next week.

But Arrows hold the key to this situation. If they can just win one of their last three games the issue will be settled, and that issue could be decided when Arrows play United Services tonight. This game, re-scheduled from Friday night, could end the league schedule and the semi-playoffs would start on Friday night with Cec Fletchers meeting Chinese Students, and on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 Arrows would meet City in their first game of the semis.

City had no trouble with the loose-playing service team Tuesday. United Services scored the first run of the game in the top of the second game, but City tied the score in their half of the inning.

City went ahead 2-1 in the fourth, increased it to 4-1 in the sixth, and put the game out of reach in the eighth with a three-run rally. Eight errors by the Services' team contributed to the scoring.

City Pony Stars Defeat Burnaby

Victoria Pony League All-stars, led by Steve Bishop's second no-hitter of the year, defeated Burnaby Pony League All-stars, 7-1, at Burnaby over the week-end.

Bishop struck out 13 batters, including the first five to face him as Victoria coasted to the exhibition victory. The only run he allowed came in the third inning on a walk, a passed ball, and Bishop's own error.

Victoria went ahead with two runs in the fourth inning and increased their margin with four more in the fifth on Barry Harvey's grand-slam home run.

Burnaby used four pitchers in an attempt to stem Victoria's attack. Bud Taylor's two for four led the winners at the plate.

Uncle Sam Wants Boston's Terry

WINNIPEG (CP)—One of the National Hockey League's top goalkeepers may soon be drafted into the United States armed services.

Terry Sawchuk, netminder for Boston Bruins, said today he recently received a U.S. draft board form to fill out, but he tore it up, believing it to be a mistake as he is still a Canadian citizen. The same thing happened to a second form received. When a third form arrived, Sawchuk decided it was no joke and visited the U.S. consul here.

They both agreed it was no joke. If Sawchuk is to make his living in the U.S. he becomes subject to its draft laws.

A five-time member of the NHL all-star team while with Detroit Red Wings, Sawchuk was sold to Boston a few months ago.

He apparently can escape the draft by remaining in Canada.

LAPRADE TO BEAVERS

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Edgar Laprade, 30, retired New York Rangers hockey professional, now re-instated as an amateur, said Tuesday he will probably join Fort William Beavers if they are chosen to defend Canada's title in the world hockey championships next winter.

Canadian Open Anyone's Plum

TORONTO (BUP)—The field was expected to be wide open when the 46th annual Canadian Open Golf Tournament got underway today at the Weston Golf and Country Club with any one of a dozen pros given a chance to grab first money in the $15,000 classic.

Most players expressed the hope today that the 6,428-yard layout would remain just as it is—a little soft following a week-end of steady rain.

There is no existing course record because last year's Hurricane Hazel forced officials to revamp a few holes. The course was subsequently installed as a par 72 instead of the previous 71. But judging from practice round scores and predictions of the pros, somebody should shoot a nine-under-par 63 during the four-day meet which winds up Saturday.

63 IN PRACTICE

No sooner had Bob Rosburg, the chubby young pro from Palo Alto, Calif., predicted that some golfer would shoot a 63 in practice rounds, than Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., did just that. It was easily the lowest of many sub-par rounds turned in by Canadian and American shotmakers over the easy course.

Ted Kroll of Utica, N.Y., turned in an unofficial 65. Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., each had five under 66's and Moe Norman, recent winner of the Canadian Amateur from Kitchener, turned in a 68 that included three bogeys.

Snead has won the Seagram Gold Cup, emblematic of the Open championship, three times and possibly ruled as the sentimental favorite. But no one would go out on a limb to establish a definite favorite.

265 PREDICTED

Doug Ford, PGA champ and All-America winner, said "265 or 266 ought to win this but it all depends on the weather."

Defending champion Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, Sask., the first Canadian to win the Dominion Open in 40 years, was battling to get back in form following a bout with the flu. Other top Canadians who figured to give the sharp American pros a fight were Stan Leonard, Vancouver, Jerry Kesselring, Kitchener, Ont., and Rudy Horvath, Windsor, Ont.

Otto Graham May Return To Browns

CLEVELAND (BUP)—Otto Graham, retired star quarterback of the Cleveland Browns, said Tuesday night he planned to meet with club officials in the next few days to discuss his possible return to uniform.

Graham said when contacted at his Suburban Bay village home, "I have been contacted by the Browns and I imagine we will sit down and discuss a possible return within the next few days."

The former pro football star said he had not definitely made up his mind, adding "My position has always been to go back if they really need me."

The Browns were caught short in field generals when a federal court ruled yesterday that Bobby Freeman of Auburn College was ineligible to play with the Browns because he had previously signed a contract with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. That left Ratterman as the team's only quarterback.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Kenny Lane, 136, Muskegon, Mich., outpointed Hoacine Khalfi, 138, Oran (10).

ELMIRA, N.Y.—Orlando Zulueta, 137½, Havana outpointed Glenn Flanagan, 140, St. Paul (10).

Nova Scotia Seeks CRU Grid Berth

HALIFAX (CP)—The Nova Scotia Canadian Football League said Tuesday it will apply for membership to the Canadian Rugby Union next year.

The N.S. league, at an executive meeting here, said it will enter the junior and intermediate Dominion finals when its membership in the CRU is approved.

Philadelphian Beats Canadian Champion

HALIFAX, N.S. (BUP)—Basil Marie of Philadelphia Tuesday night scored a fifth-round technical knockout over Canadian lightweight champion Dick Howard.

The Pennsylvania champ opened up a bad cut over Howard's right eye in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

The fight was stopped by Dr. Saul Keshen of the Halifax Athletic Commission as blood from the cut spread all over Marie and the referee, as well as Howard's face and down his body to his trunks.

Trade-Ats Win 26th For Senior B Title

Trade-Ats rolled to the Lower Island senior B softball title at Heywood Avenue Park Tuesday night by crushing Mary's Coffee Bar, 7-4.

MARC CUNNINGHAM
. . . two-hitter wins title

The victory, Trade-Ats' 26th straight this year, gave them the final in three straight games. The winners will now meet an up-Island team in a best-of-three series for the Island crown.

Marc Cunningham spun a masterful two-hitter for the victors, up to the ninth inning, when he needed help from Dixie Harper.

Harper came on to retire the side after Mary's had scored three runs in a belated rally. Trade-Ats scored four runs in the third and three more in the fifth for an early lead.

Pete Bridge, smashing out a homer and a single, led the winners at the plate.

Trade-Ats won the first game of the series, 12-2, and the second game, 6-0.

Thursday night, play will start in the Peden Knockout Trophy competition, with Mary's, Trade-Ats, Esquimalt and Foresters of the Senior "B" League, and Sooke, Brentwood and James Bay Hotel of the Senior "C" loop fighting for the title.

Boxing Said Safe Sport By Physician

NEW YORK (AP)—A New York physician has called boxing "relatively safe" and rated football and professional hockey tougher contact sports.

Dr. Mal Stevens, chairman of the medical advisory board of the New York State Athletic Commission, defended boxing against charges of "barbarism" voiced by a British physician.

"With proper supervision, equipment, coaching, training and officiating, boxing has become a relatively safe sport or business venture, depending on your point of view," said Dr. Stevens, former football coach at Yale and New York University.

"I believe there is more chance of permanent injury in football or pro hockey where the contestants rush at each other from a distance and momentum becomes a factor."

The British physician, Dr. James Hamilton Doggart of London, stressed the idea that a boxer can get damaging "cauliflower eyes" hemorrhages in blood vessels of the eye nourishing the retina and lens.

CAN HAPPEN ANYWHERE

"Retinal detachment is not peculiar to boxing," said Dr. Stevens. "Any blow in any contact sport can be damaging . . .

"Modern boxing gloves are made so that it is very difficult to separate the thumb from the main portion of the glove. Amateur gloves have a webbing holding the thumb to the glove.

The point that struck home to Dr. Stevens was a statement by the British Physician that pre-fight physical exams did little more than "separate the cripples and morons." Dr. Doggart also said "one expert has said that probably no head blow is taken with impunity, and each knockout caused definite and irreparable damage."

"We have taken tests of 2,047 licensed boxers with the electro-encephalogram," said Dr. Stevens. "And we're still looking for definite evidence of any brain damage. We have examined boxers before bouts and after they have been knocked out . . .

"Of course, we haven't eliminated ring injuries. This is a rough contact sport in which the idea is to hand out punishment. Unless you do away with all contact sports you will continue to have ring or athletic field injuries."

English Side Solves Great S.A. Bowling

LONDON (Reuters) — England, battling against magnificent bowling and tight fielding, scored 195 for eight wickets in its second innings Tuesday to lead South Africa by 234 runs with two more days to play in the decisive fifth cricket test at the Oval here.

England had made 157 in the first innings to which South Africa replied with 112.

The English eleven had to contend with some magnificent off-break bowling by Hugh Tayfield who bowled for nearly five hours. Tayfield was mainly responsible for a partial collapse of the Engnd innings when four wickets fell in the space of 13 runs after the score had reached 157 for three.

Captain Peter May was the mainstay of the England innings. He was till there at the close after batting four hours, 50 minutes for 81 runs.

Tom Graveney with 42 and Denis Compton with 30 had both helped in useful stands.

England's slow progress often brought ironical cheering from the crowd of 30,000. May and Compton were particularly defensive. But when Compton tried to push the rate along, the wickets started tumbling, with Tayfield claiming four of the last six which fell, clean bowling three.

SIX CLUBS COULD REACH MILLION MARK

AL Fans Stampede to Gates

NEW YORK (UP)—For the first time in American League history, at least six of its teams will go past the million mark in attendance this season and there is an outside chance that seven clubs could hit that figure.

That stampede for first place has given the gate its biggest shot since the mad scramble of 1948 when Cleveland and Boston had to play a pennant payoff game and the New York Yankees were not eliminated until the next to the last day of the season.

In '48, the junior circuit set an all-time major league attendance high with a total of 11,150,099 paying customers. However, only four clubs went past the million mark that season because most of the crowds were centred in Cleveland, New York, Boston and Detroit.

This year the situation is vastly different. Five clubs still are very much in the race, although Detroit's chances have lessened considerably in the past few days. All of these, the Yankees, Indians, White Sox, Red Sox, and Tigers, will go past the million mark, barring unforeseen complications.

In fact, the Yankees already have hit the million mark for the 10th consecutive year since World War II with a league high total of 1,104,150 to date through games of Aug. 16. The amazing A's from Kansas City with 1,089,073 to date, probably will stay in the runner-up spot in attendance even though they are an also-ran sixth in the standings.

The next club to join New York and Kansas City at the million level should be Boston and it probably will occur in the current three-game series with the Yankees. Before that series opened Boston had 915,016 attendance and with three 30,000-plus sellouts would easily go over.

Detroit with 19 more openings, including two double-headers, is next at 874,909 and needs only a little more than 6,500 fans per game to surpass a million. They've been getting three times that many fans.

Cleveland, in a better spot in the pennant struggle, has 796,293 fans to date and with 18 more home openings, including three double-headers, needs an average of only 11,500 fans per opening. The Indians could get as many as 80,000 for some of their crucial games with the Yankees, White Sox and Red Sox. Chicago, with 792,523 to date, needs only an average of 11,500 per opening and with 18 to go, including four double-headers, likewise is a cinch.

Baltimore with 14 more openings, including four double-headers, has a total of 701,381 and needs several 40,000-plus crowds to help out since they must have to average better than 21,000. It could happen because enthusiasm picked up with Oriole fans when the Birds had a recent hot streak.

It is only hopeless in Washington, where the Nats to date have drawn only 313,985. With 18 openings to go, including three double-headers, they would have to draw more than 38,000 per game. Since the park holds only around 30,000, that isn't likely. They haven't had standing room only crowds in the nation's capital since the Coolidge administration. Or since Bucky Harris was boy manager in 1924.

know the score on sport!

SWIMMING is tops as a relaxing summer sport. But, a word of warning. Don't plunge into a cold stream or lake to cool off when you've been badly sunburned. The difference between body temperature and water temperature has a severe effect and, according to some authorities, has been known to cause jaundice. It's best to take it easy with summer sun.

Now here's a Sports College tip for sunburned shavers—it's a smooth move.
Recently we ran a series of tests and found that rotary action Philishave gives smooth, clean, skin-line shaves. Even sunburned skin is not irritated by the rotary action. We've tested and we recommend Philishave, the unique rotary action electric shaver for close comfortable shaves.

ROAD TO THE ISLE—A hundred pipers lead the crowd across the Canso Causeway linking Cape Breton Island with the Nova Scotia mainland at the official opening. An estimated 40,000 saw the opening ceremonies and cheered the living memory of Angus L. Macdonald, Nova Scotia premier, whose dream of the causeway was realized a year after his death. Mile-long causeway is S-shaped, mainland end is at top right corner. (CP photo.)

Two Survive Crash Of Oil Company Plane

Four Companions Trapped as Aircraft Burned After Forced Landing in Sask.

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—Four of six men aboard an oil company plane which crashed in northern Saskatchewan died trapped in the flaming wreckage by the tools of their trade.

The geologist and engineer who survived the Saturday crash of an Imperial Oil Limited Beaver aircraft were found Tuesday wandering dazed and burned nine miles from the wreckage.

G. H. Kendall, 25, and Owen Smith, 24, both of Regina, told rescuers the plane's engine coughed and died when they were only 35 miles away from their take-off point, nearby Rocky Lake.

In the seconds before fire swept through the crashed aircraft they managed to scramble free but the others, up front in the plane, were trapped by piles of tools and cooking equipment.

SOUGHT MINERAL SAMPLES

The float-equipped Beaver had crossed the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border on a 350-mile flight southwest to Regina Beach near Regina. The pilot had planned to land at Sturgeon Lake, the crash scene, to allow the oil men to pick up some limestone samples.

Those who died in the crash were pilot Don Knox and Waldo Waring, both of Regina; A. A. Hutchison, 34, Virden, Man., and Bob Brown, Calgary. All worked for Imperial Oil.

Pilot Tom Lamb of The Pas, who brought out Kendall and Smith after RCAF searchers had located the wreckage, told of the dazed condition of the survivors.

Lamb, head of Lamb Airways, said: "We spotted Smith first and flew in to get him. He waded out into the water through rocks and was pointing at my engine.

"I cut my engine and Smith asked: 'Has that thing been overhauled?'

"I assured him it was a new engine and he said 'Ours wasn't.'"

The pilot said he asked Smith where the other survivor was and was told that he had returned to the wreckage to look for food.

HELD HEAD IN HANDS

"I flew back down the lake and spotted Kendall waving his hands frantically. I circled him and I think he thought we were going away because he bent down and clasped his head in his hands.

"When we landed, Kendall waded out to us but kept falling down. He was burned about the face and hands. The boys got him out and helped him aboard."

Kendall is a well-site geologist and Smith a reservoir engineer. Waring was the assistant exploration manager for Imperial Oil's Regina district; Brown was flight engineer and Hutchison was was a well-site engineer.

WHELAN JURY HEARS RCMP

'Smear' Report Just Rumor?

VANCOUVER—An unidentified private investigator, who tipped lawyer Neil Fleishman that Chief Walter Mulligan planned to smear Superintendent Harry Whelan, may have got his information from a "street rumor."

This possibility was presented to a coroner's jury, probing the suicide death of Whelan, on Tuesday by Sgt. John Knox, chief of the special RCMP squad appointed to investigate the superintendent's death.

The jury returned a verdict of suicide "while under extreme mental strain."

Sgt. Knox testified he had questioned the private investigator mentioned by Mr. Fleishman, who was Whelan's lawyer.

"He refused to give me a source for his information," said the sergeant. "I got the impression he had picked up a rumor on the street."

The fear of smear has been mentioned as a possible reason for the superintendent's suicide.

Fleishman told the jury he had warned Whelan two days before his suicide that Chief Mulligan planned to smear him at the Royal Commission hearings.

He said he told the superintendent he had learned the chief planned to prove that Whelan, and his brother Jack, were insane. He said he also told Whelan that Mulligan already had the mental papers prepared.

He said the private investigator's report stated the chief was "going to smear everybody under him."

"He had something on them all," said Mr. Fleishman.

BIG CAT COMES OUT OF WOODS FOR LOOK AT CIVILIZATION

Downtown Cougar Prowl Recalled by Royal Oak Visit

A cougar that viewed passing traffic today from a rock near the Quadra-Patricia Bay highway intersection startled one motorist, and recalled memories of another cougar that sauntered right into the city.

Today's big cat was spotted by Jim Jessome, Keating cafe operator, who said it was standing on a big rock about 400 yards from the highway, and showing no fear.

Mr. Jessome said also it obviously had paid little attention to two deer and some wild fowl that he saw on the road just a short distance from the busy corner.

It was a female cougar that strayed into the city on the morning of April 26, 1926, though, that really startled Victorians.

Workmen, restaurateurs, and streetcar conductors scurried in all directions when they saw the animal trotting up Yates street from Douglas.

Louie Young of the New England Cafe and Constable George Rich were the first to see the predator, believed to have been trapped accidentally in a freight car loaded with milk, and released unknown to railwaymen.

Const. James Strong led a party of police that made the kill at about 5.30 a.m. on the steps of the Public Library at Yates and Blanshard.

It was found to be lean and had been suffering from hunger, but was in good physical condition.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Thoughts while drifting off to dreamland. . . .

Well, this is one night I won't have any trouble getting to sleep . . . golly, I'm tired . . . not too tired, really . . . just pleasantly relaxed . . . certainly enjoyed that walk with the dog along the waterfront . . . a bit breezy, but most enjoyable if one walks briskly . . . glad the doggy persuaded me to go out instead of frowsting around in the house, reading. . . .

. . . with all that fresh air, I'm certain I'll go to sleep right away . . . good thing I didn't have a fried egg sandwich before I came to bed. . . . I'll admit, a fried egg sandwich would have gone down well . . . but I'm not one of those people who can eat and then go to sleep. . . .

. . . so I'm certainly glad I didn't have a fried egg sandwich . . . didn't really want one, anyway . . . now, I'll just turn off my mind and go to sleep . . . might be a good song title there . . . "just turn off your mind and go to sleep" . . . or has it been done before? . . . everything has been done before . . . including tomorrow's column, which actually hasn't been done but if it had been done it would have been done before . . . say, that's quite a sentence . . . must use it sometime . . . wonder what it means? . . .

. . . well, now to turn off my mind and go to sleep . . . maybe if I punched up the pillow a little bit I'd be more comfortable . . . certainly a good thing I didn't have that fried egg sandwich . . . I'd never get to sleep . . . on the other hand, I suppose a fried egg sandwich would be better than hamburger and onions . . . hamburger and onions would keep me awake for a week. . . .

. . . perhaps if I rolled over on the other side, I'd feel better . . . sure is great to be pleasantly tired and drop right off to sleep like this . . . a tall glass of milk would taste just right with a fried egg sandwich . . . but I'd rather just go to sleep . . . guess I'd better roll back the other way . . . I was more comfortable on 'tother side, after all. . . .

. . . wonder how it is some people can eat fried egg sandwiches and go right to sleep . . . some people can eat them by the dozen and never lose a wink of sleep . . . or toss or turn . . . yet if I eat a fried egg sandwich, I've had the course . . . although chile con carne is even worse . . . wonder if there's a can of chile in the cupboard? . . . no, I don't really want chile con carne, but there's no law against wondering, is there? . . .

. . . did I remember to set the alarm clock? . . . hope so . . . the way I'm feeling now, drifting off to sleep, I'm going to sleep so soundly, I'll never wake up if the clock doesn't ring. . . .

. . . glad I didn't have that fried egg sandwich . . . funny thing, I like catchup with a fried egg sandwich, but I don't like catchup with anything else . . . catchup and a fried egg sandwich go together like pork and beans . . . pork and beans would be more indigestible than a fried egg sandwich. . . .

"What's that, dear? Did I wake you up? Sorry, I'm just going to make myself a fried egg sandwich . . . would you like one?"

George E. Salmon, Port Alberni, forfeited a $500 good-behavior bond Tuesday in Colwood RCMP court and was sentenced to three months in jail for breaking terms of probation.

Salmon was given a prison sentence earlier this year when he appeared on a charge of assaulting his wife. He was then placed on the one-year bond.

He was convicted Tuesday of making threats.

City Merchants Lose $802 To Cheque Artist

A smooth-talking forger bilked merchants of $802 in seven phony cheques in a fast three-hour visit here Saturday.

City police believe he may be part of a mainland bad-cheque ring.

He is described as about 30 years of age, of medium build with a scar on his chin. He was accompanied by a woman and a baby.

The group spoke as a family, and the man and woman in turn would deny themselves some store purchase, pretending to be unable to afford it. This helped quiet suspicion of clerks.

OFFICE ENTERED

The cheques, all for $114 and a few cents, were made out in the name of Fraser Wood Products Ltd., Vancouver. The company offices were broken into August 2 and a cheque protectograph stolen. Three similar cheques have been passed in the Vancouver area.

Police believe the man and woman returned to the mainland Monday before the cheques were discovered to be worthless.

In addition, a local bad-cheque passer is believed responsible for a string of 10 worthless cheques cashed recently in this area. Addresses given varied, but all were local.

LILLOOET BY-ELECTION, Sept. 19, has been conceded by Premier Bennett, in opinion of fiery Gordon Gibson, above, who resigned seat over government's forest management policy. On premier's statement that "changes may be necessary" Mr. Gibson, who will contest seat on Liberal ticket, said "the premier should not go out personally to win this campaign if he is not firm in his principles. I feel his recent statement means he has conceded the election." Conservative nomination in the riding will be made Saturday. Socred and CCF candidates have been named already, while Gibson is expected to be officially nominated by Liberals Thursday at Squamish.

TV STATION

that CJVI had no other recourse but to apply to the CBC for a license to operate a television station.

Meanwhile, the local fight for TV control has been joined by a Vancouver newspaper.

Vancouver Sun director Sam Cromie is known to be anxious to have a television outlet to serve central areas of the island as well as the mainland.

"We are considering a Nanaimo TV station but there is nothing definite yet," Mr. Cromie was quoted. "We have not made cost or location plans. We have made a few studies . . . to protect this, we would probably apply for a licence."

COST DIFFERENCE

Cost of a local television station was estimated by Mr. Armstrong at $500,000, while Mr. Guild's was higher, $750,000. But Mr. Guild laid the discrepancy in the figures to the fact that his looked after "live" coverage of local events, while the lower figure meant that only "canned" programs could be contemplated.

"It isn't enough to show only filmed programs," he asserted. "It would not be right to expect viewers to follow your station if all you had to offer was old films."

He foresaw being able to locate a mobile unit in Memorial Arena and other centres of local activities.

"These units are very expensive both to buy and to maintain," he pointed out, "but are absolutely necessary if outside competition is to be met."

That there was a definite danger of a local station endangering reception from KING-TV, Seattle, was acknowledged by Mr. Guild and Vince Mielen, president of the Victoria chapter of Radio Electronics Technicians' Association.

Said Mr. Guild: "My engineers advise me that there is a definite possibility that a local station will wipe out channel 5."

Said Mr. Mielen: "At this early date, with so many variables and suppositions regarding a local Channel 6, it would be rather over-stepping one's position to look for trouble before it occurs. Probably the major difficulty that will occur will result from the effect of co-channel interference resulting in the herringbone patterns weaving across Channel 5's picture. . . ."

Meanwhile the Victoria Chamber of Comerce urged, in a letter to the CBC, Channel 6 remain in Victoria.

Property Value Up Along New Highway

Arbitration Board Told Land Of City Alderman Now Worth More

A real estate appraiser told an arbitration board today that land along the Trans-Canada Highway near the city has gone up in value as the result of the new highway outlet.

The board is hearing an application of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow for damages amounting to $25,000 on the grounds that his 12-acre property suffered devaluation when the new highway was constructed through his land.

The provincial government offered Mr. Edgelow $1,100 for 1.7 acres of land which it expropriated in 1935 for the highway.

Maurice Wilson, chairman of the real estate bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade, testifying on behalf of the Crown, said Mr. Edgelow's property had not suffered devaluation as the result of the highway.

In his opinion the land now was more valuable.

Mr. Wilson said he was asked to assess the value of the land expropriated. He took into consideration the effects it would have on the remaining property owned by Mr. Edgelow, he said.

He said an investigation showed that land along the highway within a radius of six miles from the city now was selling for about $1,000 an acre. The value of the land had increased since 1949, he said.

Farm land off the highway was selling for $700 and acre and rough land off the highway for $200 an acre, he said.

He said his figures were based on information he received from real estate firms in Victoria.

Mr. Wilson said his evaluation was on the "market value" or on what a "willing seller would sell to a willing buyer."

The land expropriated, Mr. Wilson said, was rocky in nature.

Jack Ruttan, counsel for Mr. Edgelow, asked Mr. Wilson if he had taken the owner's home in consideration when assessing the value of the property.

Mr. Wilson said he had not assessed the house, but he added it was usual when land was appropriated for the value of a house to go up.

(Mr. Edgelow claims that the new highway has spoilt his view and devaluated his home.)

Mr. Ruttan asked Mr. Wilson if he considered the value the owner had placed on his property and the use he was making of his land.

Mr. Wilson said he had not assessed the property from a personal point of view.

The hearing is continuing.

CAR PARK PLANNED IN CITY CENTRE

Additional off-street parking space near the centre of the downtown business district will be provided through demolition of the old Island Farm Dairies' plant at 608 Broughton street.

Work of removing the plant and remodelling the adjoining office building is being carried out by Parfitt Construction Co. Ltd.

Parking Meter Fines Top By-Law Infraction Revenue

There were 1,273 convictions for parking-meter violations during July, which netted the city police department $1,433.50 in fines, Police Chief John Blackstock reported today.

It was by far the heaviest revenue producer in infractions against city by-laws. The infractions, covering such things as parking more than 12 inches from the curb, resulted in 1,787 convictions for fines totalling $2,994.50.

Stolen property reported in July totalled $6,300, and value recovered, $22,023.

During July 23 persons were injured in auto accidents. There were no deaths. There were 30 offences against the juvenile code during the month; 14 resulted in fines and six were probated.

Sixty-one persons were pulled into police station for being intoxicated during July. Fines totalled $585.

Aid of Provosts Sought in City

WINDING UP FOUR DAYS of examinations at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., this week is Matthew William Wickett, 23, 637 Niagara, top apprentice pipe-fitter in B.C. taking part in a $1,750 prize contest to decide best pipe-fitter novice in North American. If he wins, Bill plans to study engineering. He returns to Victoria next week.

Naval Shore Patrol 'Lax With Shipmates'

Victoria police commission will investigate feasibility of asking the Department of National Defence to station provost corps here to police service personnel, it was decided today.

Commissioner Gordon Carter believed city police should not be "saddled" with the expense and responsibility of keeping servicemen out of trouble.

He told the commission occurrences got "pretty rough" when servicemen were on the town, and that it was not fair to operators of beverage establishments for them to have premises endangered.

NO OFFENCE

The commissioner said there was no intention in the mooted action to offend service personnel of the area, but that it might be in the best interests of all to have a permanent provost unit here.

Existing shore patrols from the navy, said Mr. Carter, are not trained policemen, and in some instances are perhaps lax in running in obstreperous shipmates.

Police Chief John Blackstock will investigate the matter further before action is taken.

Despite the numerous troops in the area, the city police force is doing "a very fine job," said commission chairman Mayor Claude Harrison.

Hold-Up Attempt Fails When Clerk Screams

Nervous Thugs Flee Moss Street Grocery After Waving Toy Weapon at Lone Girl

Two young thugs who attempted to rob Sam Kee & Sons grocery store, 143 Moss, Tuesday night fled empty-handed when a girl clerk screamed.

Miss Joyce Wong said she was working alone in the store at about 9.40 p.m. when two youths between the ages of 18 and 20 entered the store.

"They turned their backs to me after coming in," she said.

"I asked them if there was anything they wanted, and when they didn't answer I started to approach them.

"One turned around and started to pull a white mask over his face," she said.

TOY GUN

One of the two youths produced what appeared to be a toy gun and Miss Wong screamed.

They fled from the store and drove away in an old-model car.

Police said it is believed the car has a faulty muffler.

Miss Wong said the masks were of white cloth and were tied around their necks.

They covered the lower portion of their faces.

One of the would-be-robbers was described as about five-feet, eight-inches tall with dark curly hair.

The other was shorter with lighter colored hair. Both were of slight build.

Car Prowlings Laid to Gang Of Teen-Agers

A bold, organized teen-age gang working with a "get-away" car, is believed responsible for a recent rash of car prowlings in the Greater Victoria and Colwood areas.

Police believe the gang has stolen nearly $500 worth of articles from parked cars since the first of the month.

Purses, wallets, licence plates, hub caps, and many other articles, as well as cash, have been taken from cars in daylight as well as night-time, many of them on the waterfront.

Police believe one of the gang, probably driver of the car, waits in the car and acts as a "spotter" while one or two others go about breaking into parked automobiles.

Latest theft occurred overnight when a Gregg's Reliable Window Cleaners truck was broken into at Gladwell Motors and a custom radio valued at $65 stolen.

Thieves also removed a tire and wheel from the vehicle.

Two American tourists have lost substantial sums of cash from their cars parked at city beaches.

A Portland visitor lost $95 Aug. 6 on the waterfront and another had $90 stolen.

Playing in a friendly game with host Dick Chungranes, Eddie Fortin, of Vancouver, held a perfect cribbage hand Tuesday.

Holding the jack of hearts and three fives in his hand Fortin cut the five of hearts to get his 29. He won the game.

'ROUNDABOUT' PARLEY SET

A special meeting of the Victoria police commission will be called to hear a report on the contentious Fountain Circle situation on return of traffic chief Sgt. Brooke Douglass from holidays.

Police Chief John Blackstock said today the traffic department had a plan under study, and it would be aired at the pending meeting.

30 Days in Jail For Motorist's 11th Offence

A city driver who pleaded guilty in city police court today to his 11th traffic charge in four years was sentenced by Magistrate A. I. Thomas to a 30-day prison term at Oakalla.

Lloyd R. Moss, 788 Hillside, was charged with driving while his licence was suspended July 31.

City prosecutor Alan Bigelow told court the accused had 10 previous convictions dating back to 1951.

"You don't seem to respect the laws of the land, do you," Magistrate Thomas said in imposing sentence.

Parade Ban On Saturdays Aim of Police

Saturday afternoon parades through Victoria streets may be a thing of the past next year.

Victoria police commission today decided to ask city council to ban such parades because of complaints by merchants that they constitute a nuisance value and block traffic.

Police Chief John Blackstock brought the matter to the commission's attention. He recommended the ban be put into effect January 1.

"We have had too many parades," he said, adding that department personnel were involved in supervising the parades, and that the exhibitions were too great a drain on staff.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—I have not been long in Victoria, and am not too familiar with local history. What is the story behind the abandoned railway line which angled across Douglas and Quadra Streets, past Swan Lake and over Blenkinsop Lake on a trestle bridge, now largely demolished? Where did it go? And why was it abandoned and when?—P.M.C.

A.—It was part of the Patricia Bay line of the CNR. When many years ago the line running north through Saanich was abandoned, the part running past Swan Lake and across Quadra was continued in operation to the wineries, standing in the relation of a spur to the island system.

Q.—Are the direct rays emitted by fluorescent lamps harmful to the eyes or hair?—G.H.G.

A.—There is no harm whatever to the body from the fluorescent illuminating devices so generally in use today. Based on years of experience, this was the statement made to the Times today by the Westinghouse manager in Victoria.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Tads' Sports Equipment—Low Priced and Well Made

By PENNY SAVER

Any game you name that is played by adults, can be played by the small fry . . . only on a smaller scale. For aspiring young athletes, there are proportioned footballs, basketballs, lacrosse sticks, and balls, and all the uniforms and equipment needed for all games. They can play to their heart's content, with everything right in their own size. For girls, too, there are smaller tennis racquets and badminton sets. I was looking at one of these badminton sets today, and was amazed at the excellent construction in such low priced copies. For just $4.29, you can buy a set that includes two racquets, two shuttle cocks and a long net that can be used either indoors or outside.

They'll have hours of fun learning the game, and will get the feeling of the lightweight racquet. First thing you know, though, Mom and Dad will be out there too!

* * *

During our cool evenings, and breezy afternoons, we usually need a small shrug sweater or cardigan to carry along with us. For teaming up with your tailored skirts or slacks, or for lounging, the sweater I saw in town will be perfect. It's a blazer-like cardigan with notched lapels extending from the collar. It has two pockets, and is buttonless. There are turn-back cuffs for cool wearing. The wool is a soft, thick-knit pattern. You'll wear it for the rest of the summer, into the fall and then appreciate it still in the winter months. For such a buy, the low price of $5.97 is wonderful.

* * *

Something that really perks up a beach outfit, and draws all eyes to admire, is a beach stole. There are ones of pure white terry cloth in town, and they have patch pockets on each end, that feature narrow navy and red corded stripes. A saucy fringe about two inches long dresses up the ends. The price? Only $1. Hurry, before they're all gone.

Nearly everyone owns a blazer jacket, and those that don't, wish they did in most cases. They're one of the most versatile pieces of clothing you can own. Wear it with slacks, skirts, uniforms . . . almost anything. Many clubs, organizations and groups identify themselves by wearing blazers with their crest on the pocket. For just $7.95, you may own a blazer. You'll get years of wear from one, so make this a good investment.

Red gladioli and carnations decorated the room. A shower cake in the form of a book centred the refreshment table. Pink roses were on the cake, and it bore the title, "Best Wishes to Marie and Cliff." Green candles in crystal holders, and pink and white carnations flanked the cake. Guests were Mrs. E. Bermuda's Charm Extends Into Hot Season

By ELIZABETH FORBES

It's fun to look back on a holiday that brings new experiences and a wealth of memories of people and places. It's fun to imagine what's going on now—in this month of August— in a holiday spot visited at a different season.

That's the way it is with me today. I'm thinking of Bermuda, a cluster of coral islands in mid-Atlantic, where I spent a week in early summer.

The oleanders were in bloom then. The skies were blue and the sea an almost unbelievable mixture of aquamarine and turquoise green. It was the beginning of the hot season but there was always a caressing breeze to take the edge off the semi-tropical sun.

Cruise ships, the Ocean Monarch and the Queen of Bermuda, docked at the Hamilton pier twice a week bringing a great influx of tourists for a few hours sightseeing and shopping. Others came by air from New York, Montreal and Toronto for visits of anywhere from a week to several months.

That's the way it was in early summer.

LIVE OUTDOORS

By now the scene will be changed. The oleanders will still be in bloom, but overshadowing them will be the royal poinciana trees (umbrella-like and larger than our oaks). They will be covered with pink, red or orange flowers.

The skies will be an even deeper blue, the sea just as unbelievably colored, but the summer season is now at its height and the days will be hot and still.

The emphasis will be on the outdoors for dining, dancing, entertainment and fun in this fashionable British resort. And the island's hotels, cottage colonies and guest houses will be taking full advantage of star-filled skies, scented ocean breezes and moonlight nights as a backdrop.

CALYPSO BANDS

Patios, sunken gardens, outdoor courts and marine terraces will all be echoing to the music of calypso bands and dance orchestras.

During the daytime, the outdoors will again be the central theme, and heading the list of daylight attractions naturally enough will be the Bermuda beaches, famous the world over for their fine creamy white or pink sands.

No one ever hurries in Bermuda and now—in the hot summer days (that extend into September and October), I was told by Bermudians, life moves at an even more relaxed pace. This tradition of ease is most noticeable down by the shore where the waves roll lazily in on the beach, and colorful flowers and lovely oleander hedgerows sway leisurely in the breeze on the hillside.

The cruise ships will still be docking at Hamilton piers twice a week but now the tourists that swarm ashore will have many honeymooners in their midst. For this is the season of weddings and there could be no more romantic place for a honeymoon than Bermuda.

Newlyweds travel to Bermuda the year around, I was told, but the honeymoon season is really at its height in the summer months.

No matter what the season, visitors always spend some time meandering in Bermuda's shops, be they off the beaten track, or on the main streets of the Colony's towns and cities. For they are filled with choice woolens, tweeds, linens, china and crystal, all from the far-flung reaches of the world.

AFTERNOON TEA

Meandering is the right word, too, for there is no such word as "high pressure" in the vocabulary of any one of the well mannered clerks. In fact, this business of relaxation is carried to the point in one shop I was in, where everyone, customers and clerks pauses for tea.

Tea! That brings a memory of a spacious living room in the guest house where I stayed in Paget County on the shores of Hamilton Bay. We gathered there each day at the tea hour. With our hostess, Miss Mary Westly. And we talked of the slow and leisurely happenings in the hours that had passed. The tea table was always centred with a wide, shallow bowl of mauve and purple passion flowers. A-h-h! The perfume!

Daytime or nighttime, then, it would be good to be back in these Islands during the gay summer season where there would be fun under the stars or under the friendly Bermuda sun.

OUT FOR A STROLL—Walking on the bottom of Harrington Sound is an easy way to discover Bermuda's undersea fairylands and a cool way to relax, as this young lady is about to discover. Underwater diving tours, either with the helmet or with diving lungs, is a popular water sport in mid-Atlantic Bermuda.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

No Truth to Old Wives' Tales About Menopause

Today I would like to explode a few old wives tales concerning menopause.

Too many persons falsely believe that this is a time when a woman is likely to go into a decline physically and mentally, that she may lose her mind or become unbalanced, that she may at this time develop poor health or some disease which will ruin her forever, that she will never again have as much energy.

This is all nonsense! Many illnesses and much poor health are wrongly blamed on change of life. The truth is that physical weaknesses or neglect of health begin to show up at this age and would have done so regardless of menopause. So long as you are very young you may get by with physical defects and abuse of health but as middle age comes along these begin to tell.

The idea that this is a time of strain is true only to a certain extent. This is a perfectly natural phase of life and should not be thought of as an illness. However, the glandular system is readjusting to new conditions in your body and you would be wise to give yourself the break of a little more rest than usual and a temporary slowdown in activities and responsibilities. Take it a little easier!

Most women pass through menopause with little or no discomfort. Even when they have unpleasant symptoms, hormone therapy can usually control them. Some women are moodier during this period. These women should recognize this in themselves and not take their tears and fears too seriously. All of this will soon pass.

Instead of having less energy many women feel better and have more pep than they have had for years. They experience a physical rejuvenation.

Another belief which makes women dread menopause is that sex is no longer possible. That is not true. Women who were well adjusted to sex relationship before change of life may find it even more satisfactory afterwards. In some instances women have a happy sexual relationship for the first time after change of life.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Menopause" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 32 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Colorful Reception in HMS Superb a Farewell Gathering

"Welcome Aboard" was warmly extended to the many guests by officers of the ship at the top of the gangplank, on Tuesday evening. In receiving line was Sir John F. Stevens, KBE, CB, RN, Commander-in-Chief, America and West Indies Squadron, left, and Lady Stevens, who are seen welcoming Capt. J. M. Grant, RCN. (Rtd). The Royal Marine Band was seated on the jetty and the music floated to the ship, to complete the perfect setting.

Bermuda, where HMS Superb has been based, would be the subject of conversation in this group which included, left, to right, Lieut. T. Alsop, RN., Mr. and Mrs. H. P. R. Brown, Mrs. T. B. McLean and Sgn. Capt. McLean. Mrs. Brown, who is originally from Bermuda, has many relatives and friends there. HMS Superb will leave Thursday morning to return to the mid-Atlantic British colony prior to leaving for England in October.

McLennan and the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. H. E. Hubbard received corsages of carnations. Gifts were arranged on a decorated tea table. Other invited guests were Mrs. R. Ketterer, Mrs. A. Broome, Mrs. W. Zozula, Mrs. P. Wilkinson, Misses M. Hincks, E. Aitken, I. Couper, D. Coles, L. Orchard, J. Freeman, M. Freeman, M. Quigg and L. Walton.

Anniversary Party

Family and friends gathered recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. MacMillan, 1020 Bewdley Avenue, to honor Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pugh, on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. On behalf of the guests, Mrs. MacMillan presented the couple with a plastic tree decorated with silver dollars and Mr. MacMillan proposed a toast to their future. The supper table was decorated with silver candles and a replica wedding cake. Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. V. Hirst, Mr. and Mrs. K. MacFarlane, Mrs. J. T. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. F. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. P. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Storey, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. N. Youritchuck, Misses Patsy Richardson, Sharon Atkinson; Mr. Ron Atkinson; Bev Barnard; Edgar Pugh and Dave Howard.

Foretells Early September Wedding

A wedding of interest was foretold last week-end in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Richardson of the engagement of their only daughter, Patricia Joan, to Mr. Beverley William Barnard, son of Mr. E. L. Barnard, Swan River, Man., and the late Mrs. Barnard. The wedding will take place on Sept. 3 at 3.30 p.m. in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, with Ven. Archdeacon A. E. deL. Nunns officiating. Miss Richardson will be attended by bridesmaids, Miss Monica Brown of Vancouver and Miss Donna Whiting, and Miss Frances Woods, junior bridesmaid. The groom-elect is a graduate in architecture of the University of Manitoba. (Leonard Holmes photo.)

Toronto Hotel Feeds 1,500 Women Attending a Mammoth Convention

TORONTO (CP) — Fifteen hundred women created a housewife's nightmare Tuesday at the Royal York Hotel where they were all served lunch simultaneously in three dining rooms.

They were members of the Christian Women's Fellowship group from 32 countries—in Toronto for opening sessions of the fifth world convention of the Churches of Christ Disciples.

The women are part of a delegation of 10,000 attending the six-day convention.

Theme speaker Lillian Thomson of Toronto emphasized in an address that the Christian women's role of service is no different today than it has ever been.

"Too many people live today as if they were in an orphanage—they have lost their sense of identity and there is no one to give it back," said the head of the Neighborhood Workers' Association.

Women's vocation traditionally, she said, is one of helping people, "cherishing them and strengthening human relationships."

Suits, dresses and coats in autumn designs and colors but in cotton fabrics are ready for you now. Nice to get you through the remaining hot weather and into fall looking crisp and well groomed.

Fall's furry beaver hats come in lush colors, give real dash to a suit in black or dark grey.

Europeans Bring Charm Into Modelling

TORONTO (CP) — Girls from Europe are bringing fresh charm into the fashion modelling profession here.

In their former homelands, many of these lovely immigrants never thought of such a career, but now increasing numbers are appearing in fashion shows.

A typical example is Connie Veldthuisen, statuesque blonde from Holland, who came to Canada two years ago. A Toronto textile manufacturer spotted her working behind a hotel magazine counter, and now she models swim suits.

Maja Weiss, 23, a Danish brunette, is among the top models here. She is taking drama lessons and hopes for a theatrical career.

A fresh-faced blonde charmer from Germany is Beatrice Mues, 18. "Back in Bremen, if anybody had told me I was to become a model, I would hav laughed in his face," she said. Now she is in demand as a photographers' model.

A young Estonian girl who escaped from behind the iron curtain to come to Canada from Denmark, Ivi Riives, was elected "Miss By-line" at this year's Toronto Men's Press Club ball, and a modelling career followed.

They are serious workers. Asked about beauty competitions, the girls said: "We don't get time."

Fast Journey

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—By herself, 95-year-old Mrs. H. F. McAllister took a plane for Toronto where she and her sister spent their birthdays together. Her sister Agnes was 101 on Aug. 12, four days after Mrs. McAllister's birthday.

The beige fox muff is a nice (inexpensive) luxury touch for fall's dressy clothes and for suits, too.

Courtenay Wedding

In St. George's United church, Courtenay, B.C., last Saturday evening, Elizabeth Martha, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Reid of Merville, becames the bride of Clinton Bruce Butchart, second son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Butchart of Salmon Arm. Rev. Allan Dixon, BA, BD, of Nelson Trinity United church, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite gown of nylon net and lace, the redingote featuring a deep net hem and above the lace decolletage a net yoke with an Elizabethan collar. A dainty pearl tiara held her chapel veil of illusion in place, and she carried red roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Ronald Williamson was her sister's matron of honor and wore pale yellow taffeta and nylon tulle. She carried blue carnations and yellow daisies. Carlton Olson of Salmon Arm was best man, while Ronald Williamson and Peter Reid, the bride's brother, ushered. Miss Miriam Koski was soloist, accompanied by D. B. Arnett.

The reception, where Mrs. Reid, the bride's mother, and Mrs. A. Kleine, New Westminster, the groom's sister, assisted in receiving, was held in the Merville hall. Stan Hodgins, as master of ceremonies, proposed the toast to the bride. After a wedding trip in the United States Mr. and Mrs. Butchart will live in Salmon Arm.

Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cherry, Mr. Peter Reid and Mr. Jay Reid of Vancouver.

Top Speller Takes TV Quiz For Fast $8,000

Words No Chore For 12-Year-Old

NEW YORK (AP)—An engaging 12-year-old girl, who reached the finals of the U.S. national spelling bee last May, Tuesday night won $8,000 on the television quiz show, "the $64,000 question."

Gloria Lockerman of Baltimore, made a bit of a show over picking her category of questions, and then with a knowing smile, said: "I think I'll take spelling."

She ripped through coyote, dinosaur, chinchilla, and hippopotamus to get $512. Then, for $1,000, she knocked off plenipotentiary. Gingham and taffeta brought her $2,000, and minuet, waltz and mazurka took her to the $4,000 stage.

For $8,000, Gloria rattled off one of the longest words in the English language—antidisestablishmentarianism.

Next week Gloria can take her $8,000 or try for $16,000. If she misses, she gets funds for a college education as a consolation prize, instead of the CBS program's usual convertible car.

MOST UN-HOLLYWOOD?

Grable's His Favorite Girl

BETTY AND HARRY

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A reader askst "Who is Hollywood's most level-headed, most down to earth, in short, most un-actressy actress?"

This is the kind of question that puts a Hollywood writer out on a limb. Since there are no nicer limbs than Betty Grable's, she is our choice for that title.

"I don't know how I've lasted this long, I'm so dull," Betty once told me, referring to her lack of sensational front-page headlines a la Monroe or Hayworth.

Betty's daily life could be summed up as a race at breakfast with hubby Harry James over who gets to read the sports section; a lot of time spent with her family and her stable of horses; plus a passion for Harry James records.

KNOWS FEW STARS

The James' social life is about as un-Hollywood as can be. Their friends are mostly of the turf set.

"It's amazing how few movie stars we know," she said. "For instance, the closest I ever came to knowing Clark Gable was when we both had the same dentist.

"One day I was in the chair with my mouth wide open and Clark stopped by. The dentist said, 'Clark, want to see some beautiful teeth.' And there I sat while Gable and the dentist looked in my mouth. I never saw him in person before or since."

Betty could well afford to be a conceited actress because she is one of the greatest box office stars in the industry's history. In fact, after Darryl Zanuck had an artistic success but box office flop with "Wilson," he commented

"I'll never make another historical picture unless it has Betty Grable in it."

CO-OPERATIVE BETTY

Always co-operative, Betty took every musical role 20th Century-Fox handed her, but she went on suspension rather than to play a heavy dramatic role in "Pickup on South Street."

"I just told them I'm no dramatic actress," she explained. "I know what I can do best—singing and dancing."

Like all stars who started when they were youngsters, she gets an inevitable greeting from the junior matron set which usually goes like this:

"I used to play hookey from high school every time one of your pictures came to town."

Most of them still can't figure out how Betty can still look so good. Actually, it is easily explained. Betty still has a few years to go before she hits 40. And when she first became a star, it was at an age when she could have been playing hookey from school herself.

Oil Painters Enter PNE Hobby Show

They are Mrs. Pauline Hartman, 321 Maitland Road; George V. Smith, YMCA, and Charles McGinnis, 2723 Blackwood Street.

Among other Victoria and Island entries are copper tooling, Mrs. Ethel M. Lett, 3178 Alder Street; shellcraft, Mrs. Mary Wallace, 175 Olive Street; collection of cigar bands, Grant O'Hara Johnston, 3117 Blackwood Street; metal tooling, Mrs. Ivey H. Ingram, Sidney; archery cross-bow and quarrils, E. G. Hayman, Coombs.

Freed Airman Plans to Seek Custody of Son

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Airman Daniel G. Schmidt Tuesday announced through his counsel he will seek the custody of his 2½-year-old son, Danny Jr., in a divorce action against his remarried wife Una.

Schmidt, 23, returned last week from 32 months in a Chinese Communist prison.

His wife married logger Alford Fine, 21, while Daniel was in prison. She said she remarried in the belief Schmidt was dead.

In Nevada City Una's counsel said she will resist any attempt to take Danny Jr. from her.

SERIOUSLY ILL — Suffering from a severe case of anemia, actress Arlene Dahl will enter hospital for treatment. The Hollywood star has informed Italian producer Ponti de Laurentiis she will be unable to appear in the movie "War and Peace," scheduled for production shortly in Italy.

Woman Plans To Try Swim With Thomas

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Laura Ouillette, 35-year-old hairdresser, said Tuesday she will definitely tackle the Kelowna to Penticton swim in company with Bert Thomas.

Thomas plans to swim the 35 miles through lake Okanagan as a grand opening to the Penticton peach festival Thursday.

Mrs. Ouillette, a six-foot, 200-pound blonde from West Summerland, said she was attempting the swim "for the Okanagan . . . it's a sporting challenge."

Thomas will be swimming for $1,200 and a $1,000 guarantee.

Mrs. Ouillette said she will go to Kelowna Wednesday afternoon to watch the conqueror of Juan de Fuca take off and will follow about an hour later.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Ray Muench, 29-year-old marathon swimmer, Tuesday lost out in his bid to cross the 18-mile stretch of Lake Erie water between Pelee island and the mainland.

The currents pushed the swimmer and his accompanying boat more than 10 miles off course, after Muench had covered more than 20 miles.

Missing Scout Found Dead on Norway Peak

Campney Lawyers Act To Correct 'Mistake'

Defence Minister Director of Company Leasing Building to Federal Government

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Sun says Defence Minister Campney was for nine months a shareholder and director of a private company which owns a suburban Burnaby postal station now leased to the federal department of public works.

The Sun identifies the company as Como Investments Ltd. It says Mr. Campney was one of its three directors and still owns the one-third issued shares of Como that he had when a director.

The newspaper quotes William Murphy, one of the defence minister's law partners, as saying it was a "comedy of errors" and that Mr. Campney knew nothing about the postal station or his Como directorship.

The Sun says the government took a seven-year lease on the Burnaby postal station Dec. 13, 1950, at an annual rental of $6,924. It says the property is assessed at $28,650 and is registered under Como's name as of Dec. 3, 1954. Mr. Murphy is quoted as saying that "a ghastly mistake" was the reason Mr. Campney's name was on the Como board of directors, and that it was contrary to the orders of the minister, who assumed he had been dropped as a director.

COMPANY OVERLOOKED

Mr. Murphy said Mr. Campney asked to have his name removed from directors' lists when he entered the federal cabinet in 1952, the newspaper adds, "but by some unfortunate oversight we forgot about Como." Mr. Murphy is quoted as saying that when the Burnaby property was purchased, Mr. Campney knew nothing about it.

The newspaper says a letter dated Aug. 8, 1955, was received by the registrar of companies, signed by Mr. Murphy. It gave notice that Mr. Campney had resigned as a Como director Dec. 4, 1954.

The House of Commons Act forbids a member of Parliament to transact any agreement or contract with the federal government for which public money is to be paid.

'LET'S SWAP SOME IDEAS'

Khatchaturian Supports Policy Of Harmony With the West

LONDON (UP) — Aram Khatchaturian, one of Russia's top composers who wrote the jukebox hit "Sabre Dance," suggested today that Soviet and U.S. music masters get together and swap ideas.

The 51-year-old composer, who once was roundly spanked by Soviet higher-ups for leaning towards western musical theories, said in a Radio Moscow broadcast that "we Soviet musicians desire a closer acquaintance with the culture of other countries."

He said he hoped that "the spirit of co-operation which dates from the Geneva talks, and which puts an end to the cold war, will give us an opportunity for close future contacts, and that we shall come to know each other's work and share the best with each other."

Khatchaturian's invitation to exchange talent was a far cry from the song he sang after he and three other leading Russian composers were severely reprimanded in March, 1948, for straying from the Communist line in their works.

At that time, an official decree criticized Khatchaturian, Dmitri Shostakovich, Sergei Prokofieff and Nikolai Miaskovsky for failure to prevent development of the "formalist" school.

The decree said the composers in question were leaning too far towards ideas of the western world which tended to depict a "wasting away" of the bourgeois culture. It criticized them for producing works too aloof for the masses.

Khatchaturian was tossed out as chairman of the organizing committee of the Union of Soviet Composers and, along with the other three, had to confess his musical sins publicly.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

Don't think for a moment that South's bid of four hearts can be recommended. South had a perfectly reasonable jump to three hearts, which would invite a game. North would make a bid of some kind with almost an unsound responding hand, and game would be reached. If North couldn't accept such an invitation, South was no favorite to make the game.

Opening lead—♦K

When South actually jumped all the way to four hearts, he promised a hand that would make a game even if North had an unsuond responding hand. Such a jump rebid would be sound if you changed one of South's small hearts to the king, so that he had seven solid hearts and a fine spade holding on the side.

North was justified in raising to five hearts with his actual holding of two aces among other values. This would be safe if South had a minimum hand for his big jump, and South would go to a good slam contract if he had extra values. South naturally passed, since he realized that he had already overbid his hand.

West opened the king of diamonds, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer led the nine of hearts from dummy and let ride for a finesse. When it won, declarer led a spade from dummy and finessed the queen. He then continued with the ace of hearts and a low heart to East's king, discarding a diamond and a club from the dummy.

East had a serious problem. He couldn't return a spade without giving South a free finesse. If East returned a diamond, South would discard a loser while West took the queen of diamonds, and South would later discard his other loser on the jack of diamonds. The only hope was a club return, and even this was sure to be fatal unless West had the queen of clubs.

Acting on the hope that his partner had the queen, East returned the king of clubs! Declarer won in dummy with the ace of clubs, ruffed a diamond, and ran all of his trumps, saving a club and two spades in the dummy. He then led a club, assuming that East had the queen of clubs and would be forced to take the trick and lead a spade.

Much to South's dismay, West took the queen of clubs and two diamonds, defeating the contract.

NINO VALDES FIGHTS BOB SATTERFIELD ON C-5 AT 7

TV THESPIANS—Time and time again we are nonplussed by the general taste of TV fans. Some we know personally seem content to continually chase the dial for the highly-colored half-hour crime and comedy shows. It seems that no amount of coaxing can induce them to take a fling at such outstanding hour-long dramatic treats as those presented by Kraft, U.S. Steel, Robert Montgomery, Climax, Front Row Centre and so on.

This is a pity for, to our mind, television is presenting some of the most outstanding plays to be seen in North America today.

For instance, on Monday evening, Studio One presented "The Secret," starring Hildy Parks, John Baragre and Catherine McLeod. Not only was this a gripping play, containing suspense and pathos, but in Miss McLeod there was as fine a bit of acting as we have had the good fortune to witness in a long while.

* * *

LATER, THE SAME evening, we watched Robert Montgomery's very talented summer players in "Uncle Snowball." For one solid hour we sat spellbound as superb actors House Jameson (in the lead role), Charles Drake, Augusta Dabney, Dorothy Blackburn and Eric Sinclair put on a show that would do credit to Broadway or the Strand. Indeed this is the type of play that we would see transformed to the large screens of the cinema.

The point of this discussion, however, is that it is no wonder that motion picture producers appear to flood the market with so many films about cowboys, cops-and-robbers, juvenile delinquents and other oddments of our civilization. Theirs is a money-making business and if they are to survive financially they must offer goods that will be bought by the general public. Therefore, it is obvious that motion picture offerings are dictated by those who frequent the box office.

Or, in closing, if advertisers discover that the TV shows they sponsor are being shunned there is every danger that some of the excellent dramas to which we are currently being treated will be dropped and that would be a great pity.

Thursday's child is one of those very ingenious youngsters who will have a basic understanding of the over-all aims of associates but will also be one of those unusual youngsters who also knows how to reduce this to a workable arrangement. So, don't expect your progeny to be a day-dreamer but rather make sure that you do have business training in early days as well as comprehensive, sound principles under which it is wise to operate. Fine chart for public work requiring conscientiousness.

Canadian Actor Admits Red Link; Names Broadway Communists

NEW YORK (UP) — Actor George Hall broke the curtain of silence at a congressional hearing into communism on Broadway today by admitting past Communist party membership. He named seven members of his theatrical cell.

The slender, dark-haired Canadian-born actor was the 12th witness to appear before the House un-American activties subcommittee, but he was the first to talk freely about Communist affiliations

The witnesses preceding him during the past two days had refused to answer questions about communism, most of them invoking constitutional privilege.

Hall testified that he joined the party in July or August of 1946 and was a card carrying member until the end of 1947.

Hall, a native of Toronto, Ont., came to the United States in 1938 and was naturalized in Waco, Tex., in 1943 while serving in the U.S. army.

"I saw a lot of things and experienced incidents which I interpreted in an immature and emotional way causing me to rebel against the status quo," he said. "No one persuaded me to become a Communist — the blunder was my own and I take full responsibility for it."

He said his only activities were contributing entertainment at Communint fund-raising parties in private apartments

"I never knew whose apartments they were, how much money was raised or for what use," Hall said. "There might be 60 or 160 guests who paid a dollar to come and seventy-five cents for drinks."

Hall said almost all the cell meetings he attended were held in an unidentfied suite of the Royalton Hotel, the home of many stage celebrities.

"At that time I took a pompous, big-brother attitude toward racial minorities that needed my help like a hole in the head," Hall said. "But I found out later that in this country, under this government, these people have 99.9 per cent more freedom here than in their national fatherland."

Hall also has appeared in the Broadway shows "High Button Shoes," 'Lend an Ear," and "Touch and Go."

He has been a member of the cast of the radio show "Pepper Young's Family" for several years and his television credits include Ed Sullivan's show and celebrity time.

BANK SHORT $35,000—ALSO ONE TELLER

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—Provincial police, armed with a warrant, today continued the search for an 18-year-old bank teller who failed to turn up at the Toronto-Dominion Bank here the day $35,000 in payroll funds was discovered to be missing.

Neil Earl Dickson, described by his friend as "a quiet, easy-going guy," disappeared from his home Friday night. Police said he was last seen by a Stratford cab driver who reported spotting Dickson heading toward London carrying a black suitcase.

Bank authorities touched off the search for the missing teller on Monday when the money was discovered missing.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

CHESS GREATS CLASH

Anderson Plays Master Tonight

OTTAWA (CP)—A big match looms tonight in the second round of the Chess Federation of Canada's 52nd national tournament here — co-Canadian champion Frank Anderson of Toronto versus Dr. Fedor Bohatirchuk, Russian-born international master.

Both won their opening-round matches Tuesday night as a dozen top Canadian players opened the round-robin tourney in a cafe of the Chateau Laurier Hotel.

Anderson, who holds the title jointly with Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg, beat the eight-time Canadian champion Maurice Fox of Montreal in 42 moves, playing the white men. Anderson took almost an hour to figure out his 35th move and bystanders said that was the one that did it.

Yanofsky is not competing this year.

Anderson will have the black tonight when he meets Dr. Bohatirchuk of Ottawa University. The doctor has a record of three wins and two draws against Mikhail Botvinnik of Leningrad in matches played in Russia before Botvinnik became world chess champion.

WINS IN 35 MOVES

Dr. Bohatirchuk, who came to Canada in 1949, had little trouble in his first round match with Walter Jursevskis of Vancouver, British Columbia champion. Playing the black, he downed Jursevskis in 35 moves.

The players get one point for a victory and half a point for a draw in the tournament, which continues until Aug. 26.

In other first-round matches, Lionel Joyner of Montreal, who has represented Canada in international junior play, defeated R. Raletich of Edmonton, Alberta champion.

32 Crewmen Saved From Ship on Rocks

HALIFAX (CP)—The 32 crew members of the battered British freighter Laradore were rescued Tuesday from their floundering vessel off the Magdalen islands by the tug Foundation Josephine. Officials said there was little chance of the 5,200-ton coal carrier being saved.

The Laradore gouged into a rocky reef on the Magdalens Saturday, puncturing her hull. Pounding waves Tuesday night threatened to finish her.

Foundation Maritime here said the Josephine took the 32 seamen aboard late in the day and headed for Sydney.

The Laradore, carrying 8,500 tons of coal from Sydney to Montreal, was said to be in a "bad spot" and had little chance of surviving.

The city will tender an official luncheon at the Union Club September 1 for Sir Seymour Howard, Lord Mayor of London, during his two-day visit here, Mayor Claude Harrison said today.

Crippled Veteran Jumps From Pattullo Bridge

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—A crippled army pensioner who leaped to his death from Pattullo bridge has been identified as Thomas Alfred Alan Ottaway, 40, of New Westminster.

Police said Tuesday Ottaway climbed to the highest point of the bridge, stripped off his shirt, shoes and jacket, then plunged 260 feet into the Fraser river before several eyewitnesses. He was pulled from the water, still breathing, by the crew of a tugboat and pronounced dead minutes after the arrival of a doctor.

$700 Navy Windfall For War Frogman

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rodney Dove feels "a little strange" taking his $700 windfall from "the British Admiralty — "but don't get me wrong; I'm going to take it." The 45-year-old airline passenger agent, a former Royal Navy lieutenant, told in an interview here Tuesday night how he came to be in line for $700 of the admiralty's cash.

"I was a pilot on one of those two-man human torpedoes which operated from three-man midget submarines," he said.

The submarine would launch a torpedo equipped with two seats and two frogmen would guide the self-propelled missile below the surface of the water into an enemy harbor and fasten it to the hull of a ship. The riders would set a time-clock and attempt to swim back to their submarine before the torpedo exploded.

"Ten of us went in at Palermo in Sicily, on five torpedoes. I was one of six captured. Two were killed and two others got back to their mother ship.

"Of course, I spent the rest of the war in the bag. We were drawing base rate—I was a sub-lieutenant at the time—plus six shillings a day operational pay.

"We drew the operational pay up to our capture and then, for some extraordinary reason, the whole thing stopped. We were promised the operational pay would be paid if we were captured.

"Well, I was two and one-half years in the bag without getting it."

Then came the Benson and Warren book "Above Us the Waves," which was made into a movie. It mentioned that the captured torpedo-riders hadn't been paid the six shillings for the time they were "behind the wire."

An admiral read the book and started an investigation.

"So now we get the money that was due us 13 years ago. I think there were about eight or 10 of us involved. I believe I'm the only one in Canada."

The former lieutenant, now married to a Dutch girl, couldn't say what he would do with the $700—"it's a complete windfall"—but it "will probably go little by little."

"It goes," he said, "when you have a two-year-old son — and are expecting another any minute."

'Flying Granny' Dies at 108 —Five Years After First Flight

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Bertha Ann Freeman, a "flying grandmother" who made her first visit to a hospital as a patient just 10 weeks ago, died Tuesday at the age of 108.

She went to hospital June 3 when she became excited over the arrival of relatives at her home, fell out of bed and broke her right hip.

Mrs. Freeman developed an interest in flying in 1927 after Charles A. Lindbergh made his famous New York to Paris solo flight. But not until 23 years later—1950—did she get up enough nerve to take to the air.

She celebrated her 103rd and 104th birthdays in the air and was shown some of the tricks of handling a plane.

MOVIE BEATS DOCTOR FOR HEAT TREATMENT

NEWARK, N.J. (UP)—Benjamin Wassell told a traffic judge Tuesday that his wife had become ill because of the heat and that was why he had parked overtime.

"Oh, so you parked overtime while you took her to a doctor?" the sympathetic judge asked.

"No. I took her to an air-conditioned movie," Wassell said.

The judge suspended sentence.

Jury Refuses Boy Damages For Spanking by Teacher

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy was denied $2,998 damages Tuesday by a municipal court jury for a spanking he got in school last year.

Vice-principal Archie Anderson testified he gave Lee Roy Stevens four light swats with a strap at Washington junior high after offering the boy the alternative of staying after school.

Lee Roy's father, Roy A. Stevens, claimed the swats were not light ones. He testified they had this effect: Lee Roy had to pedal home from school in a standing position; he ate little supper that night; and he went to bed early, missing some good television programs.

The leather strap used by Anderson was introduced in the case. The vice-principal's lawyer, Dean A. Bailey, produced it from his briefcase with the comment: "We only ask that it be returned before school starts."

HON. GEORGE PRUDHAM

Helicopter Brings Out Ill Minister

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Mines Minister Prudham's saddleback vacation into the mountain wilderness of Banff National Park has ended with him being whisked to hospital by helicopter.

The 51-year-old cabinet minister and member for Edmonton West was reported in "satisfactory condition" today in Banff Mineral Springs Hospital with what is believed to be food poisoning.

The helicopter picked up Mr. Prudham Tuesday at Lake Llewellyn, in the vicinity of Mount Eisenhower and about 30 miles from Banff. The lake is not accessible by car.

Famed Winnie Roach's Cousin Readies Ann Meraw for CNE Swim

TORONTO (CP)—Two women swimmers are training together here for an attempt to swim Lake Ontario Sept. 5.

Roseta Tanner, 42, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Mrs. Annabelle (Ann) Meraw, 36-year-old Vancouver woman, are scheduled to participate in a 32-mile swim from Youngstown, N.Y., to Toronto, sponsored by the Canadian National Exhibition.

The two are being coached by a father-and-son team — Pat Roach and son Bill of Toronto. The elder Roach is handling Miss Tanner. Bill, who helped coach his cousin, Mrs. Winnie Roach Leuszler, when she became the first Canadian to swim the English channel in 1951, is handling Mrs. Meraw.

OLDEST ENTRY

Smiss-born Miss Tanner will be the oldest of nine women entered in the race, which has 31 entrants. She swam 14 miles in Lake Huron, near Sault Ste. Marie, earlier this year and has been training all summer.

"I don't want to beat anyone really," she said. "I just want to make it."

Mrs. Meraw is the only woman to swim the 14 miles from English Bay, Vancouver, to Bowen Island. She made the swim in 1938.

She said she holds most of the professional swimming records on the west coast up to and including 14 miles.

Last July she attempted to swim the bitterly cold Strait of Juan de Fuca which separates Vancouver Island from the State of Washington. She was pulled out after three miles, however, although she wished to continue.

Three other men, critically burned, are reported improving.

CHEAP FIBREBOARD SCREENS DEADLY GASES

WASHINGTON (UP)—Government scientists have developed a revolutionary new civil defence product—a cheap wood fiberwood that can filter poison gas, germ-laden particles and radioactive fallout from the air.

The product is known as "diffusion board." The U.S. forest products laboratory developed the material, and the army chemical corps is testing it for use in air raid shelters.

KITIMAT UNEMPLOYMENT SERIOUS SAYS UNIONIST

VANCOUVER (BUP) — President Tom Alsbury of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council charged Tuesday night that conditions of unemployment were bad and poor living conditions common in the Kitimat, B.C., industrial empire.

Alsbury said he had received a letter from the Kitimat Trades and Labor Council which said the situation was serious, many men were out of work and houses were not available.

"This is a shocking condition," Alsbury said.

'Shoot on Sight' Ultimatum Ends Nebraska Prison Riot

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP) — Nebraska penitentiary officials issued "shoot on sight" orders and broke a 13-hour prisoner rebellion today.

Warden Joseph Bovey gave the more than 200 rebels "just two minutes" to return to their individual cells. He then threw more than a dozen state troopers into the east cellblock with orders to "shoot on sight" anyone outside his cell.

The prisoners did not deliberate long. They rushed meekly into their cells, well inside the two-minute limit.

Land-Sea Search For 2 on Lost Boat

Fisherman, Boy, 14, Are Sought

VANCOUVER (CP) Dramatic relay of a distress signal launched a land and sea search at dawn today for a Bella Coola, B.C., fisherman and his 14-year-old helper whose fishboat sank in raging seas off Spider Spider island Tuesday.

(Spider island lies off the mainland, 80 miles northeast of Cape Scott, at the tip of Vancouver Island.)

The double-barrelled search got underway as three other men were rescued by an RCAF patrol boat after being overdue eight hours in a small boat off Oyster bay on Vancouver Island.

Missing off Spider Island are Robert V. Nygaard, 34, owner of the fishboat Sultana and Orville Rindero, 14. Both are from Bella Coola.

ISLAND SCOURED

Land parties of fishermen went ashore on Spider Island at dawn to comb the rocky shores while a small flotilla of boats combed the raging waters in the area where the 32-foot craft was last seen.

Search machinery was put in operation Tuesday afternoon after fishboats relayed a message from the Sultana that she was sinking in heavy seas about two miles off the island.

First reports identified the boat as the Sulturna.

A chain of tiny fishboats and other craft picked up the message and passed it down the length of the coast. Last to relay it was the CPR ferry Princess of Nanaimo which radioed the report into RCAF search and rescue headquarters in Vancouver.

The ship-to-ship relay was necessary because of poor atmospheric conditions which cut down normal transmission ranges.

V.I. TRIO RESCUED

Meanwhile at Oyster Bay, 10 miles south of Campbell River, Gregory Allan, Glen T. Rene and a man identified only as Plaxton, were picked up by the patrol boat 848 off Mitlenatch Island in the Strait of Georgia.

The trio was drifing helplessly after the engine in their boat broke down.

RCAF officials said two tugboats, two government vessels and six trollers had been sent to join in the Sultana search off Spider Island.

Captain Cyril Andrews, head of the B.C. Towboat Owners' Association, said it had been definitely established that the Sultana sank.

"We received word from an unidentified source who saw the boat go down."

However, land was in sight at the location reported, and "there is every possibility that the pair got to land," Capt. Andrews said.

He added that search boats had picked up a lifebuoy and some debris.

IRA Adopts War of Nerves Against Police

LONDON (AP) — Irish Nationalists waged a war of nerves today as British authorities combed the country for terrorists who raided an army depot last week.

Telephone calls warning of more raids on military camps throughout Britain plagued police. Each call brought out detectives and army agents but all the calls and rumors proved false.

The outlawed Irish Republican Army claimed credit, in a statement sent to Dublin newspapers Tuesday, for Saturday's brazen raid on the Arborfield army depot near Reading, Eng.

Scotland Yard struck back Tuesday and, in a swift assault on an IRA hideout in the heart of London, seized all the guns and ammunition stolen Saturday.

It was stated Tuesday night that guards were being doubled at military establishments in the Liverpool area, when a report circulated that the IRA was ready to strike again.

POLICE PROBE HEARINGS WILL RESUME TUESDAY

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Chairman R. H. Tupper of the royal commission investigating the police department announced today that the commission will resume hearings at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

The commission will resume hearings into charges of laxity and corruption in the police department after a two-week recess during which confidential investigations of further charges against the police were conducted.

Peronistas Quit Truce

Party Calls for Resumption Of 'Brilliant Crusade of '46'

(From UP and AP)

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina—Reinforced troops and artillery units guarded the residence of President Juan D. Peron today and the political truce which followed the June 16 revolt appeared over.

The end of seven weeks of limited political freedom for Peron's opponents apparently was signalled by the Peronista party. Peron called for the political truce a week after the abortive navy-led revolt two months ago.

The superior council of the Peronista party announced Tuesday that it had abandoned efforts to effect the truce and reaffirmed its determination to maintain Peron in power against all opponents.

The council said it would not give the opposition the "head of our president as a token of peace." It announced the party's determination to resume the "brilliant political crusade of 1946 when the people, tired of fraud, oppression and misery, determined forever to be governed by Argentines and carried the then Col. Peron to the presidency."

NEW FIGHTS

New disorders broke out today in front of the Roman Catholic metropolitan cathedral on Plaza de Mayo in central Buenos Aires. Police used fire hoses to break up a demonstration.

Several persons were reported arrested.

Witnesses said the disorders erupted as Catholics emerging from mass began shouting anti-government slogans and were met by an antagonistic group.

Fighting raged from the cathedral a block to Avenida Diagonal Norte, then down fashionable Florida street. Florida was covered with water from the fire hoses for three blocks.

5,000 Watch Navy Ships In Manoeuvres

Big Steam-Past Opens Navy Day

By MONTE ROBERTS

An estimated 5,000 Victorians and visitors lined the Dallas Road water front this morning for a look at Canada's Pacific Coast fleet in action, and most of them liked what they saw.

It was the largest-scale naval manoeuvre ever staged in Juan de Fuca Strait, with 11 of Her Majesty's Canadian ships taking part to open "Navy Day."

Only disappointment in the display of steaming manoeuvres was cancellation of the anti-aircraft "shoot," which was called off due to a heavy mist along the Port Angeles side of the strait.

Naval operations decided the use of live ammunition would be dangerous in case small vessels were hidden in the mist.

FISHBOATS INTRUDE

Toward the end of the manoeuvres, the Pacific "fleet" contained 14 instead of 11 ships. The navy craft were joined—inadvertently—by three small gillnetters returning from West Coast fishing grounds.

The tiny fishboats threaded through the impressive naval formation, and kept perfect formation themselves.

The steam-past, which most spectators believed would be brief, developed into a two-hour exhibition which held the attention of observers to the end.

The ships steamed out of Esquimalt Harbor in line-ahead formation, and appeared off Beacon Hill Park, well to seaward, at 9.30 a.m., heading east.

MAJESTIC CIRCLE

Led by the 8,000-ton, 555-foot flagship of the Pacific Command, HMCS Ontario, the fleet made a slow, majestic circle inshore and steamed past the park in the same formation.

Following Ontario were the raking-prowed Tribal class destroyers, Cayuga and Athabaskan, low-silhouetted and deadly. Behind the destroyers came the modernized Prestonian-class frigates, Stettler, Sussexvale and Jonquiere, distinguished by their straight up-and-down profile and enclosed superstructures.

Then came the reserve navy's training ships, the Bangor-type minesweepers Brockville and Digby, which have been modified for training and are now classed as coastal escorts.

The tiny, sturdy coastal minesweepers, James Bay and Fortune, followed. And last came one of the navy's smallest and hardest working ships, Porte de la Reine, the trawler-hulled gate vessel which is the Pacific Command's ship-of-all-trades.

Just short of Brotchie Ledge, the flagship swung hard a-port, and the 10 accompanying ships followed the manoeuvre to turn away from shore in line abreast.

CLOSE TO SHORE

The ships then turned close inshore for the official steam-past at 10.30 a.m.

Navy Day was continuing this afternoon with gates of HMCS Naden and HMC Dockyard open to the public.

Vancouver Paper Wants Island TV

Local Station See Endangering Channel Five Reception Here

By PHIL LEE

A "gentlemen's agreement" between the city's two radio stations that they would approach the CBC jointly for a television outlet blew up Tuesday, and today the fight for the island's only allocated channel, Channel 6, appeared to be developing into a three-way struggle.

It also appeared that a local station would seriously endanger reception from Seattle's Channel 5.

The "gentlemen's agreement" became a thing of the past, Tuesday afternoon, when CKDA president David M. Armstrong requested a television franchise from the CBC for his station.

Mr. Armstrong's explanatory telegram to Times publisher Stuart Keate Tuesday read:

"Please be advised that in the interest of television in Victoria CKDA feels that one station should own the franchise. Therefore, the owners and operators of the Capital Broadcasting System Limited will apply, at the next meeting of the CBC board of governors, for a television licence for Channel 6 which has been assigned to Victoria. . .

SURPRISE

Commented William Guild, general manager of CJVI, this morning; who maintains that there had been a gentlemen's agreement between the two stations.

"The action came as a complete surprise to me. The first I knew of it was when Dave's (Mr. Armstrong) secretary phoned to say she had a wire to read to me."

Although steps had not yet been taken, Mr. Guild stated

COPPER PRICE AT 40, TOPS IN 83 YEARS

NEW YORK — The anticipated rise in the price of copper became a reality today when one leading producer raised the price to 40 cents a pound from 36, highest price since 1872.

Other producers were expected to follow.

Today's was the third rise this year.

Higher production costs and increased demand for the available supply were reasons for the boost. The U.S. price has been under pressure from Europe for some time, where copper has been selling for 47 cents a pound.

New Ontario Gales Predicted From Dying Hurricane Diane

TORONTO—Gale-force winds were predicted for southern Ontario Friday night, even though hurricane Diane was blowing itself to pieces 60 miles inland from the North Carolina coast this afternoon.

Diane hit Wilmington, North Carolina, 600 miles from Toronto, at dawn today, eight days after her whirlwind birth in the tropics.

Diane's 74-mile-an-hour winds did little harm in North Carolina. Governor Luther Hodges said damage was "almost miraculously light."

In Ontario, where two were killed by the dying gasps of hurricane Connie last week-end, weather forecasters issued preliminary warning of gales expected Friday.

But they emphasized that Diane might not copycat her predecessor. Hurricane Connie also lost strength in North Carolina but revived enough to whiplash Ontario two days later before disappearing into the Arctic.

1956 UN EXPENSES TO HIT 10-YEAR LOW

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold estimated Tuesday night the UN's expenses in 1956 would be $46,278,000. This would be the lowest in six years. He figured the 60-member nations would have to contribute $39,404,400 of this, with the United States giving a third. He counted on getting the remaining $6,873,600 from stamp sales, guided headquarters tours and other paying operations.

Stan Leonard Fires 66 in Open Tourney

WESTON, Ont. (CP) — Little Jerry Barber shot a hole-in one but the real scorcher was provided by Charles Sifford of Philadelphia, Pa., who shot a nine-under-par 63 to take the lead with half the field reported in the opening round of the Canadian Open golf championship today.

Sifford put together nines of 31-32 over the 6,428-yard par-72 course. His card included nine birdies.

Second place was taken by Vancouver's Stan Leonard with a five-under-par 66. The west-coast pro, who gave up his Marine Drive job as pro to hit the tournament trail this year, put together a pair of 33s.

The five-foot-four barber from Los Angeles, Calif., was tied for third place at 67 with two others —Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Bob Dean, a dark-horse entry from Cornwall, Ont.

The course was taking a clobbering, as the pros predicted after practice rounds on Tuesday.

EGGS-ACTLY 64 DAYS

Proud Papa Penguin Poses Aching Days for His Toes

VANCOUVER (CP)—For two weeks a proud king penguin at the Stanley Park zoo has performed a neat balancing act that may turn into an endurance test.

Zoo keeper Alan Beet says the penguin, believed to be a male, has delicately balanced a four-inch egg on his feet without any help from the female of the species.

If all goes well for another seven weeks the penguin egg will be the first ever laid in a Canadian zoo and hatched successfully.

"Normally the female relieves the male at intervals during the egg's incubation period," Mr. Best said today. "But so far the mate has shown no willingness to take over."

Penguins do not make nests. The egg rides on top of the feet of the brooding penguin, covered by its feathers.

The egg, which has a 64-day incubation period, is not due to hatch until Oct. 5 to 7. And Mr. Best said it was possible the male would retain the egg, almost round in shape, for the entire period.

There are seven king penguins in Stanley Park valued at $500 each.

SHIPWORKERS IN U.K. ASK 10% PAY HIKE

LONDON (Reuters) — Union leaders of more than 3,000,000 machine trade and shipyard workers today lodged new demands for a "substantial" wage increase, which would cost the industry an estimated £100,000,000 a year.

The demand, reported to be an across-the-board wage increase of 10 per cent, is the biggest pay increase demand in Britain this year.

England won the first two test and South Africa the next two.

INDEPENDENT RESEARCH, 'UNIQUE' RESULT

U.S., Soviet Atomic Scientists Reach Same Point of Knowledge

GENEVA (Reuters) — The United States, Britain and Russia today disclosed secret information on the measurements of neutrons essential to the design of atomic power reactors.

Details of measurements of the neutrons of uranium 233 and 235 and plutonium, the major materials of nuclear fission, were placed on the table by physicists of the three countries at a session of the Atoms-for-Peace conference.

Until now these measurements were secret.

Dr. Ronald Hughes of Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, N.Y., said scientists discovered the three countries had reached virtually the same point of knowledge after 10 years' independent work on neutron measurement.

"The situation this morning was certainly unusual, if not unique in science," he told a press conference. "We were comparing results of independent work over the last 10 years and found they compared extremely well."

Hughes showed reporters a chart on which were curves representing the work of scientists at the Harwell research centre in England and by Soviet scientists.

The American physicist pointed out that the two curves became "completely identical" at the top. They "are so close together that you would think the measurements were carried out in the same laboratory," he said.

Hughes said the physicists know from today's exchange that fundamental nuclear information has been available to all the big powers. Now the smaller nations, too, have access to it.

He said the atomic Big Three agreement on neutronic measurement gave scientists great reassurance about reactor designs and would save an immense amount of time for physicists the world over.

POLICE PROBE HEARINGS WILL RESUME TUESDAY

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Chairman R. H. Tupper of the royal commission investigating the police department announced today that the commission will resume hearings at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

J. Whelan To Be Recalled Before Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—New evidence dealing with charges of corruption in Vancouver's police force may be given by former detective Jack Whelan when he is recalled before the Tupper royal commission. The first witness will be Terry Parsloe, former RCMP sergeant, who made a secret investigation of police chief Walter Mulligan and other officers in 1950, clearing them of graft charges. He made his report to the Vancouver police commission.

Whelan will have a chance later to repeat to the royal commission the "reasons" he gave a coroner's jury Tuesday for the suicide of his brother, Supt. Harry Whelan, Aug. 5.

Identify Man Found Dead on Tracks

WINNIPEG (CP)—The body of a heavily tattooed man found on the CPR track near Oakbank, Man., Sunday has been identified as that of Louis Phillip Cloutier, of Montreal.

Parents of the dead man were located by Montreal police Tuesday.

Cause of the death has not yet been established. A post-mortem examination performed did not reveal any injury except a broken hand.

Workers Strike; Troops Run Singapore

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—British and Malayan troops today took over Singapore's main services after 10,000 members of the city council employees' union went on strike at midnight.

The strike was called after city council failed to meet the union's demand for more money.

Ontario Premier Shuffles Cabinet

TORONTO (CP)—Two new men entered the Ontario cabinet today as Premier Frost announced a shuffle involving eight portfolios.

Mr. Frost turned over to Dana Porter, until now attorney-general, the treasury portfolio he has held himself for the last 12 years.

A. Kelso Roberts, member for Toronto St. Patrick and chairman of last year's highways fraud committee, became attorney-general.

Atlin To Be Inundated

ATLIN, B.C.—Delegates representing 200 residents of this northern B.C. community were told here by Thomas Ladner, Northwest Power Industries' representative, that every owner of property will be compensated if a licence is granted to the $750,000,000 Frobisher power enterprise which will submerge this community under 20 feet of water.

Leonard Uncorks 66 In Canadian Open Golf

WESTON, Ont. (CP) — Little Jerry Barber shot a hole in one but the real scorcher was provided by Charles Sifford of Philadelphia, Pa., who shot a nine-under-par 63 to take the lead with half the field reported in the opening round of the Canadian Open golf championship today.

Sifford put together nines of 31-32 over the 6,428-yard par-72 course. His card included nine birdies.

Second place was held by Arnold Palmer, of Latcobe, Pa., who fired 32-32—64.

Third place was taken by Vancouver's Stan Leonard with a five-under-par 66. The west-coast pro, who gave up his Marine Drive job as pro to hit the tournament trail this year, put together a pair of 33s.

The five-foot-four Barber from Los Angeles, Calif., was tied for fourth place at 67 with two others — Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Bob Dean, a dark-horse entry from Cornwall, Ont.

The course was taking a clobbering, as the pros predicted after practice rounds on Tuesday.

Sifford's 63 equalled the Canadian Open championship record. Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., set the mark at the Open in 1947 at Montreal and Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, Calif., equalled it in the first round of the Open at Vancouver last year.

5,000 Watch Navy Ships In Manoeuvres

Big Steam-Past Opens Navy Day

By MONTE ROBERTS

An estimated 5,000 Victorians and visitors lined the Dallas Road water front this morning for a look at Canada's Pacific Coast fleet in action, and most of them liked what they saw.

It was the largest-scale naval manoeuvre ever staged in Juan de Fuca Strait, with 11 of Her Majesty's Canadian ships taking part to open "Navy Day."

Only disappointment in the display of steaming manoeuvres was cancellation of the anti-aircraft "shoot," which was called off due to a heavy mist along the Port Angeles side of the strait.

Naval operations decided the use of live ammunition would be dangerous in case small vessels were hidden in the mist.

FISHBOATS INTRUDE

Toward the end of the manoeuvres, the Pacific "fleet" contained 14 instead of 11 ships. The navy craft were joined—inadvertently—by three small gillnetters returning from West Coast fishing grounds.

The tiny fishboats threaded through the impressive naval formation, and kept perfect formation themselves.

The steam-past, which most spectators believed would be brief, developed into a two-hour exhibition which held the attention of observers to the end.

The ships steamed out of Esquimalt Harbor in line-ahead formation, and appeared off Beacon Hill Park, well to seaward, at 9.30 a.m., heading east.

MAJESTIC CIRCLE

Led by the 8,000-ton, 555-foot flagship of the Pacific Command, HMCS Ontario, the fleet made a slow, majestic circle inshore and steamed past the park in the same formation.

Following Ontario were the Troops Guard Peron Palace As Truce Ends

(From UP and AP)

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — Reinforced troops and artillery units guarded the residence of President Juan D. Peron today and the political truce which followed the June 16 revolt appeared over.

The end of seven weeks of limited political freedom for Peron's opponents apparently was signalled by the Peronista party. Peron called for the political truce a week after the abortive navy-led revolt two months ago.

The superior council of the Peronista party announced Tuesday that it had abandoned efforts to effect the truce and reaffirmed its determination to maintain Peron in power against all opponents.

The council said it would not give the opposition the "head of our president as a token of peace." It announced the party's determination to resume the "brilliant political crusade of 1946 when the people, tired of fraud, oppression and misery, determined forever to be governed by Argentines and carried the then Col. Peron to the presidency."

NEW FIGHTS

New disorders broke out today in front of the Roman Catholic metropolitan cathedral on Plaza de Mayo in central Buenos Aires. Police used fire hoses to break up a demonstration.

Several persons were reported arrested.

Witnesses said the disorders erupted as Catholics emerging from mass began shouting anti-government slogans and were met by an antagonistic group.

Fighting raged from the cathedral a block to Avenida Diagonal Norte, then down fashionable Florida street. Florida was covered with water from the fire hoses for three blocks.

Vancouver Paper Wants Island TV

Local Station Seen Endangering Channel Five Reception Here

By PHIL LEE

A "gentlemen's agreement" between the city's two radio stations that they would approach the CBC jointly for a television outlet blew up Tuesday, and today the fight for the island's only allocated channel, Channel 6, appeared to be developing into a three-way struggle.

It also appeared that a local station would seriously endanger reception from Seattle's Channel 5.

The "gentlemen's agreement" became a thing of the past, Tuesday afternoon, when CKDA president David M. Armstrong requested a television franchise from the CBC for his station.

Mr. Armstrong's explanatory telegram to Times publisher Stuart Keate Tuesday read:

"Please be advised that in the interest of television in Victoria CKDA feels that one station should own the franchise. Therefore, the owners and operators of the Capital Broadcasting System Limited will apply, at the next meeting of the CBC board of governors, for a television licence for Channel 6 which has been assigned to Victoria. . .

SURPRISE

William Guild, general manager of CJVI, who maintains that there had been a gentlemen's agreement between the two stations, commented today:

"The action came as a complete surprise to me. The first I knew of it was when Dave's (Mr. Armstrong) secretary phoned to say she had a wire to read to me."

Although steps had not yet been taken, Mr. Guild stated

36th Gas Fatality

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Twenty-year-old Shirley Hanford became Vancouver's 36th domestic gas fatality of the year when she was overcome by gas fumes Tuesday.

COPPER PRICE AT 40, TOPS IN 83 YEARS

NEW YORK — The anticipated rise in the price of copper became a reality today when one leading producer raised the price to 40 cents a pound from 36, highest price since 1872.

Other producers were expected to follow.

Today's was the third rise this year.

Higher production costs and increased demand for the available supply were reasons for the boost. The U.S. price has been under pressure from Europe for some time, where copper has been selling for 47 cents a pound.

LONDON (Reuters) — England beat South Africa by 92 runs in the fifth and final test cricket match at the Oval today to win the series by three matches to two.

Final scores: England 151 and 204; South Africa 112 and 151.

England won the first two tests and South Africa the next two.

Still Dare Snake

PINEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—As a testimonial to their faith, members of a snake-handling cult will hold services Sunday with a rattlesnake that fatally bit one of their mountain preachers.

Snake handling violates Kentucky and Alabama law. Alabama authorities are investigating the death of Valentine.

Fisherman, Boy Missing Off Island

Land-Sea Search After Boat Sinks

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dramatic relay of a distress signal launched a land and sea search at dawn today for a Bella Coola, B.C., fisherman and his 14-year-old helper whose fishboat sank in raging seas off Spider island Tuesday.

(Spider island lies off the mainland, 80 miles northeast of Cape Scott, at the tip of Vancouver Island.)

The double-barrelled search got underway as three other men were rescued by an RCAF patrol boat after being overdue eight hours in a small boat off Oyster bay on Vancouver Island.

Missing off Spider Island are Robert V. Nygaard, 34, owner of the fishboat Sultana and Orville Rindero, 14. Both are from Bella Coola.

ISLAND SCOURED

Land parties of fishermen went ashore on Spider Island at dawn to comb the rocky shores while a small flotilla of boats combed the raging waters in the area where the 32-foot craft was last seen.

Search machinery was put in operation Tuesday afternoon after fishboats relayed a message from the Sultana that she was sinking in heavy seas about two miles off the island.

First reports identified the boat as the Sulturna.

A chain of tiny fishboats and other craft picked up the message and passed it down the length of the coast. Last to relay it was the CPR ferry Princess of Nanaimo which radioed the report into RCAF search and rescue headquarters in Vancouver.

The ship-to-ship relay was necessary because of poor atmospheric conditions which cut down normal transmission ranges.

V.I. TRIO RESCUED

Meanwhile at Oyster Bay, 10 miles south of Campbell River, Gregory Allan, Glen T. Rene and a man identified only as Plaxton, were picked up by the Patrol Boat 848 off Mitlenatch Island in the Strait of Georgia.

The trio was drifing help-

Shore Patrol 'Lax' Says Commissioner

Victoria police commission will investigate feasibility of asking the Department of National Defence to station provost corps here to police service personnel, it was decided today.

Commissioner Gordon Carter believed city police should not be "saddled" with the expense and responsibility of keeping servicemen out of trouble.

He told the commission occurrences got "pretty rough" when servicemen were on the town, and that it was not fair to operators of beverage establishments for them to have premises endangered.

NO OFFENCE

The commissioner said there was no intention in the mooted action to offend service personnel of the area, but that it might be in the best interests of all to have a permanent provost unit here.

Existing shore patrols from the navy, said Mr. Carter, are not trained policemen, and in some instances are perhaps lax in running in obstreperous shipmates.

Police Chief John Blackstock will investigate the matter further before action is taken.

Despite the numerous troops in the area, the city police force is doing "a very fine job," said commission chairman Mayor Claude Harrison.

IRA Adopts War of Nerves Against Police

LONDON (AP) — Irish Nationalists waged a war of nerves today as British authorities combed the country for terrorists who raided an army depot last week.

Telephone calls warning of more raids on military camps throughout Britain plagued police. Each call brought out detectives and army agents but all the calls and rumors proved false.

The outlawed Irish Republican Army claimed credit, in a statement sent to Dublin newspapers Tuesday, for Saturday's brazen raid on the Arborfield army depot near Reading, Eng.

Scotland Yard struck back Tuesday and, in a swift assault on an IRA hideout in the heart of London, seized all the guns and ammunition stolen Saturday.

It was stated Tuesday night that guards were being doubled at military establishments in the Liverpool area, when a report circulated that the IRA was ready to strike again.

SHIPWORKERS IN U.K. ASK 10% PAY HIKE

LONDON (Reuters) — Union leaders of more than 3,000,000 machine trade and shipyard workers today lodged new demands for a "substantial" wage increase, which would cost the industry an estimated £100,000,000 a year.

The demand, reported to be an across-the-board wage increase of 10 per cent, is the biggest pay increase demand in Britain this year.

New Ontario Gales Predicted From Dying Hurricane Diane

TORONTO—Gale-force winds were predicted for southern Ontario Friday night, even though hurricane Diane was blowing itself to pieces 60 miles inland from the North Carolina coast this afternoon.

Diane hit Wilmington, North Carolina, 600 miles from Toronto, at dawn today, eight days after her whirlwind birth in the tropics.

Diane's 74-mile-an-hour winds did little harm in North Carolina. Governor Luther Hodges said damage was "almost miraculously light."

In Ontario, where two were killed by the dying gasps of hurricane Connie last week-end, weather forecasters issued preliminary warning of gales expected Friday.

But they emphasized that Diane might not copycat her predecessor. Hurricane Connie also lost strength in North Carolina but revived enough to whiplash Ontario two days later before disappearing into the Arctic.
